'All Can Be Lost,' Premier Says After Return To Paris

PARIS (AP) — Premier Michel Debre warned Frenchmen today that "all can be lost" if order is not established and maintained in Algeria.

Debre issued the warning in an official statement after his return from a middle-of-the-night visit to Algiers, where French insurgents still occupy the heart of the city.

It was a clear warning to Frenchmen that right-wing extremists are threatening the future of France itself unless they abandon their stubborn uprising.

The insurgent die - hards were reported to have been promised the French army will not shoot them out of their barricades. But Debre declared the policy of self-determination for Algerians stands.

Nothing has happened that will deter pursuit of the aim of President Charles de Gaulle's administration to let Algeria's nine million North Africans decide their own future, he said.

The French Press Agency said De Gaulle's military commander and civil representative in Algeria had promised the army will not fire on the insurgents.

The agency quoted Echo D'Alger, an Algiers newspaper, as saying Gen. Maurice Challe, army commander, and Paul Delouvirer, De Gaulle's representative in the territory, gave the assurance in a meeting with City Council members.

The council members were reported to have asked the two Paris representatives not to use force against the insurgents dug in behind the barricades.

Word of the development came after Premier Michel Debre returned to Paris from a middle-of-the-night visit to Algiers.

Debre — his moves cloaked in secrecy since Monday when President de Gaulle's government dispatched him on the trouble-shooting mission—arrived in the tense North African city Monday night, French army headquarters for Algiers announced.

His plane whisked him back to Paris again before the sleeping populace was aware of his presence.

The communique said Debre had conferred with Gen. Maurice Challe, commander in chief in Algeria, and Paul Delouvirer, De Gaulle's representative in the territory. It was reported he also conferred with 10 Algiers parliamentary deputies.

TRAFFIC DETOUR. The two eastbound lanes of the W. 8th St., super-road were closed near Lisbon St. today after Sikora Brothers Excavating Co. of Poland ripped up the pavement to make an excavation for relocation of the Carpenters Run trunk line sanitary sewer. Eastbound traffic is being rerouted temporarily around the work site on one of the two westbound lanes. The relocated section will pass diagonally across the highway at the traffic islands at the intersection of W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. and them make a right angle turn to go east along W. 9th St.

States U.S. Has No Plan To Intervene

Says That American People Still Retain Feelings For Cubans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today ruled out any United States reprisals at this time against Cuba's Fidel Castro regime.

The President told a news conference the Castro government's anti - American campaign causes concern and perplexes this country.

But, Eisenhower added, the American people still have great affection for the Cubans. The United States, he went on, is not going to be a party to any reprisals against Castro at this moment, and is certainly not going to intervene in Cuba's internal affairs.

Immediately after the news conference, Eisenhower issued a statement.

"The United States government views with increasing concern the tendency of spokesmen of the Cuban government, including Prime Minister Castro, to create the illusion of aggressive acts, and conspiratorial activities aimed at the Cuban government and attributed to United States officials or agencies," it said.

Eisenhower called such accusations "unfounded illusions" and said promotion of them can hardly contribute to good relations between the United States and Cuba.

"We believe these charges to be totally unfounded," the President said.

In a TV broadcast last week, Castro accused the U. S. Embassy of working with opponents of his government. He also denounced Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Jurors Rule Death Driver Was Negligent

Hancock To Charge Pennsylvanian For City Man's Fatality

Paul E. Ammon, 848 Fairview St., killed in a traffic crash Friday night near Chester, met his death as a result of an auto being driven in a negligent manner by an Aliquippa man, a coroner's jury ruled at New Cumberland Monday night.

The six-member panel heard testimony from four persons during the inquest which lasted for an hour and a half.

Squire John D. Herron was in charge.

Mr. Ammon died in a crash of autos driven by his son, Cpl. Ronald Ammon, 20, and Charles R. Logston, 23, of Aliquippa on a sharp curve on the Route 30 hill in back of Chester.

The coroner's panel ruled that the victim "had met his death as a result of a motor vehicle being driven in an unlawful and negligent manner by one Charles R. Logston."

Hancock County authorities indicated that Logston may be charged with negligent homicide — a misdemeanor in West Virginia — upon his release from City Hospital, where he is recovering from injuries received in the accident.

Cpl. Ammon and his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Fenton, 60, of 411 Monroe St., also were injured.

The panel heard testimony from Deputies William King and Radar Stanley, Dr. George Naymick, county coroner, and Charles LeMasters, a motorist who was near the scene when the accident occurred.

Draft Own Relief Act

Democrats Junk Underwood Plan

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Democrats in the West Virginia legislature have junked Gov. Underwood's economic relief program and are drafting a less ambitious one of their own.

It would cost between four and five million dollars, by present plans. The Republican governor's original recommendations called for spending 12½ million for relief of unemployment.

The Democrats' program involves no new or increased taxes. It would be financed by a 5 per cent boost in state liquor store prices, continuing the insurance premium tax at its present 3 per cent rate, and budget trimming. The Democrats say they are hopeful of squeezing a million dollars of fat from the budget bill now before the legislature.

Underwood's recommendations called for $7,400,000 in new annual revenues, counting a liquor price boost as well as various tax increases. The Democrats' proposals for liquor prices and the premium tax are the same as Underwood's. Without legislation, the premium tax will drop back to 2 per cent after June 30.

A majority of the Democrats apparently are agreed as to how they would raise the money. But they have yet to choose between two programs for spending it.

One alternative calls for spending $1,400,000 on state parks projects to create jobs, $1,000,000 on re-training the unemployed for other jobs, and between $2,000,000 and $2,500,00 on liberalizing the public assistance program. The figures are tentative and details remain to be worked out.

The other alternative, which seems less likely of odoption, would distribute all of the money to counties for school construction and related projects as a means of providing jobs. Part of the distribution would be on a matching basis of enrollment.

These plans were made public after an unusual joint caucus yesterday of the Senate and House Democratic majorities. Newsmen were excluded, but the program was summarized for reporters afterward by Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) and House Speaker Harry R. Pauley (D-McDowell).

Bills embodying the two alternative programs are to be drafted immediately. Bean and Pauley said. A joint Senate-House Finance subcommittee was to be named today to work out the details and make a recommendation as to a choice between the alternative spending proposals. It is to report later in the week.

The caucus followed, but was not a result of, receipt by the legislature yesterday of a special message from Underwood. In it, he tried to prod the lawmakers into action on his recommendations for a State Temporary Economic Program—STEP.

"This Legislature has a rendezvous with hunger. It is a meeting which cannot long be postponed. The time for seminars, study groups, interim committees and pious resolutions has passed. The hour has arrived when this legislature must either act or abandon our unemployed to their fate," Underwood said.

The governor did not appear before the legislature, but copies of his message were distributed in both chambers. It was read to the House by the clerk.

Underwood answered Democratic charges that he has failed to follow up his STEP recommendations with implementing legislation. He reiterated what he said in his address Jan. 13, opening day of the session — namely that his program intended to be carried out within the framework of existing departments.

"The need is for more money, not for more laws," Underwood said.

In his Jan. 13 message, Underwood proposed measures to enable the state to spend eight million dollars in the next fiscal year on state parks, forests and other natural assets and 4½ million on stepping up the secondary road program.

Although Underwood outlined financing for only eight million dollars worth of park, forest and related projects, his administration has since presented the legislature with a list of more than 19 million dollars worth of such projects. The administration position is that they all are needed projects which could be undertaken if the Legislature wanted to go beyond the governor's original recommendations.

After Underwood spelled out his economic program on Jan. 13, the Democrats' state chairman, Hulett C. Smith of Beckley, said he did not think it went far enough. But Bean said that in the Democratic caucus yesterday "it was pretty well pointed out that the program of the governor was too ambitious . . . at a time when business also is suffering."

The joint caucus came at a time when the Democratic majorities of the Senate and House seemed divided several ways on what to do about unemployment. It evidently was the consensus in the caucus that too little time remained to undertake a more ambitious program which might bog down in a Senate-House disagreement. After today, only 16 days remain of the 30-day legislative session.

Marine Talk Stirs Threat From Cubans

HAVANA (AP) Cuba's minister of justice said today "there will be millions of cadavers" if U.S. Marines land in this country.

The televised remarks of the minister, Alfredo Yabur, apparently were in reference to an earlier report by a local radio commentator that 10,000 Marines had landed at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba. Normally a few hundred Marines are stationed there.

The radio commentator's statement could not be confirmed from any source here.

At Norfolk, Va., an Atlantic fleet spokesman denied the report. He said the United States does not have 10,000 Marines in the Caribbean area. He said, however, there had been no change in plans for large-scale amphibious exercises beginning today at Vieques Island, Puerto Rico, about 1,000 miles east of Guantanamo.

"It is insulting to the revolutionary government," Yabur declared, "that at the moment a foreign ambassador offends Cuba, thousands of North American Marines land at the naval base.

"If there are thousands of Marines," he added, "there'll be thousands of Cubans. If there are thousands of Marines, there'll be millions of cadavers."

Mothers March Awaited In Area Wednesday Night

Hundreds of women volunteers will knock on doors throughout the tri-state area Wednesday night in the annual Mothers March on Polio, seeking contributions for the March of Dimes.

The canvass will be made in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester, Newell and Lawrenceville. Salineville's will be Thursday when Hookstown's will also be held.

Funds will be used to treat persons stricken by polio and to finance the National Foundation's research into the causes of birth defects and arthritis. The Glenmoor and Calcutta areas will be included in the East Liverpool canvass, scheduled from 5 to 8 p. m.

In addition to seeking funds, the women volunteers in East Liverpool and Wellsville will make a "door count" to ask each family if any of its members has a birth defect, arthritis or polio and how many had three or more Salk vaccine shots.

Headquarters for the East Liverpool canvass will be at the First National Bank. Mrs. Dorothy Crooks is chairman of the local Mothers March.

Information gathered in the "door count" is designed to "help provide a working estimate of the number of persons in the United States suffering from arthritis; the number born with birth defects and the number who have been victims of paralytic polio," Mrs. Crooks said.

"This tabulation will prove an invaluable guide to our National Foundation chapter in planning local programs to aid the disabled," she said. "There are few local statistics available on the incidence of birth defects and arthritis. For the country as a whole, we know that each year 250,000 babies are born with one or more significant defects. We know that more than 11 million Americans suffer from arthritis and the rheumatic diseases."

Wellsville's march will be held at the same hours but the number participating will not be known until the women report.

Officials of the E. Clark St. plant —where some 90 employes walked off their jobs Wednesday in a stalemate over contract talks — and union agents conferred yesterday afternoon and night, coming to a tentative agreement.

Ernest Gotthardt, president of Local 1499, said the contract proposals have been submitted to international officials for approval.

Library Circulation Gains

Reflecting a national trend, the annual report of the Carnegie Public Library shows an increase in the number of books circulated during 1959.

The report, prepared by Miss Frances Jones, librarian, was read at the annual reorganization of the Board of Trustees Monday night at the library. All officers were returned. They are Atty. Robert A. Kapp, 314 Grant St., president; James J. McGowan, vice president; Wilford Padgett, secretary, and Fred H. McGillivray, treasurer.

MISS JONES revealed in her report that 196,522 volumes were loaned, 16 per cent more than in 1958. Of the total gain of 21,033, two-thirds of the increase was in the use of information books.

This reflects more extensive school assignments and an appreciation on the part of adults of the more stimulating non-fiction available, she said.

The library attracted 2,228 new borrowers, a gain of 868 registrations over the 1958 total. A total of 621 former patrons were registered. The current active borrowers files lists 8,509 in a 3-year period.

The library also purchased and indexed 3,569 volumes of which 2,231 were adult books and 205 were gifts. The library has a total of 62,237 hardbacked books. Also added were 521 pamphlets and a storage of back files or 75 magazines.

IN ENLARGING the audio-visual aids, 255 16-mm. sound films were secured through the Central Ohio Film Circuit. Several dozen prints were borrowed from commercial sponsors. About 30 films are kept on hand to assist with community programs. Total attendance at showings the first four months of use was 9,747.

The library now owns 133 filmstrips. Catalogs are mailed out and phone bookings are encouraged.

The library also selected 326 sets for elementary classrooms, deposited 1,500 volumes in the 2 junior high schools, conducted 24 preschool story hours, conducted 187 classroom visitations and sponsored a summer reading club with 1,200 members.

OTHER SERVICES included presenting 20 book talks to adult groups, 9 library orientation talks at Parent - Teacher Association meetings, promoted special registration campaigns during National Library Week and Children's Book Week, conducted three art shows—an amateur show for adults and children; a craft show for senior citizens, and a one-man show by Mitchell Smith — and set up four book displays in the business area.

Personalized services offered included assistance with 2,304 reference questions; reservation of 1,724 special books; secured 276 books from the Ohio State Library or large city libraries, and notified 1,401 patrons about overdue loans.

BRIGHT commercial bindings were added 609 volumes. A total of 1,316 books were mended with the help of students and Girl Scouts. The outside walls of the reading rooms and stack rooms area were washed and illuminated display cases were added to the entrance to provide better exhibits for local products, hobbies and museum objects.

The library, founded in 1896, is financed by a county tax on intangibles.

The budget for 1960 totals $56,575 with $5,000 allotted for capital improvements. Planned are additional desks in the lobby to handle the increased volume of business and air conditioning for the main reading room.

Diana Found In Bedroom

Barrymore Death Probed

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Diana Barrymore, 38, who made her life a tragic struggle to fulfill the mythical promise of her name, died Monday.

Her nude body was found lying face down in bed by a maid at her fashionable East Side apartment.

Her physician said she died of a heart attack but he refused to sign a death certificate because Miss Barrymore had no history of heart trouble. Police started an investigation.

Authorities said there was no indication of suicide. Miss Barrymore, who was trying to make a theatrical comeback after a life of alcoholism, degradation and broken marriages, had once made a suicide attempt.

She told her story in the best-selling autobiography, "Too Much, Too Soon." She was the daughter of the late John Barrymore, whose swashbuckling off stage matched anything he did on stage, and the late Blanche Oelrichs, who wrote plays and poems under the name Michael Strange.

Her aunt was Ethel Barrymore, and her uncle was Lionel Barrymore. Her theatrical ancestry went back four generations in this country and England. Diana Barrymore's name opened for her every door in show business, but when she made headlines it was seldom in the critics' columns.

In 1938-39, she was New York's "Personality Debutante." Her smiling, young face was photographed in all the fashionable night spots with cafe society escorts. Encouraged by her father, she launched a theatrical career in summer stock and quickly moved on to Hollywood.

Miss Barrymore's movie failures led her to excessive drinking. As a young woman, she moved swiftly through two unsuccessful marriages, first to Bramwell Fletcher, an actor, and then to John Howard, a professional tennis player.

By 1947, her reputation for drinking and belligerence had closed all doors her name had opened. During her third marriage to Robert Wilcox, she and her husband were arrested for stealing food from a supermarket. One day, Miss Barrymore swallowed 27 sleeping pills with whisky as a chaser. She was found in time to be saved.

After the death of Wilcox in 1955, Miss Barrymore began the long, uphill struggle for a comeback. She wrote her book, including the sordid details of her dissipation. She licked her drinking problem.

Her body was taken to Bellevue Hospital for an autopsy. Her manager, Viola Rubber, who lives across the street from Miss Barrymore's apartment, said the actress had complained recently of chest pains.

There was no indication of the value of Miss Barrymore's estate. Her attorney, Aaron Frosch, said she "had no financial difficulties."

Miss Barrymore's survivors include a half-brother, actor John Barrymore Jr., and a half-sister, Dolores Barrymore, the children of her father and Dolores Costello Barrymore, and another half-brother, Leonard Thomas.

Court Action May Result In Right-To-Work Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A provision which may get around the right-to-work laws now in effect in 19 states has been written into the new steel industry labor contracts. But it may be litigated up to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Right-to-work laws prohibit any requirement in union contracts that a worker must belong to a labor union to get or hold a job.

The steel contracts require all workers outside the right-to-work states to maintain union membership and pay dues as a condition of their employment. This is the union shop arrangement that has been in steel contracts for some time.

The new provision says that in the right-to-work states employes will be required to pay regularly each month "a service charge as a contribution toward the administration of this agreement and the representation of such employes." The service charge is to be equal to the regular dues payment.

This latter arrangement, known as the "agency shop," allows the worker to avoid union membership but rquires him to pay the equivalent of regular dues. If he doesn't he is to be fired.

The Steelworkers Union figures that anyone required to pay equivalent dues as a service charge most likely will become a full union member anyway.

The 19 states having right-to-work statutes or constitutional amendments are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Mississippi, Nevada, Nebraska, North Carolina, South Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and Virginia.

The Iron & Steel Institute says that nine of these states — Arkansas, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, South Carolina, North Dakota and South Dakota — have no steel operations.

But the agency shop principle, established in so large an industry as steel, is likely to spur similar contracts in other industries in even these states.

However, the matter is sure to be argued in the courts.

NEW YORK (AP)—Coming up: a winking satellite.

More easily visible and tracked, it will help scientists measure the shape of the earth and distances on earth, and perhaps aid ships and planes in getting accurate navigational fixes.

It is one of a cloud of new scientific satellites planned in the next few years by the United States, John F. Clark of the National Space and Aeronautic Administration reported today.

A major American target in space is to learn more about the curious and profound effects of the sun on the earth and its people, Clark told the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

This will be in addition to programs to put a man in space, and set-up weather-watching and communications satellites for more immediate practical benefits, he said.

The sun influences strongly the entire gamut of human activities," Clark said, and four to six satellites will be shot up annually for years to come to learn what the sun does, and what man can possibly do about it.

Canfield Couple's Lost Dog Turns Up In Wisconsin

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The dog that Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Fetter of nearby Canfield feared was dead has been located at Schofield, Wis., about 600 miles from here.

When Penny, a 7-year-old Schnauzer, left home Dec. 29 and failed to return, the Fetters gave up hope of ever seeing their pet again. But they have received word that Penny is being cared for by a Schofield truck driver who likes dogs.

According to information received by the Fetters, this is what happened:

R. H. Zastrow, of Rt. 1, Schofield, was driving his truck on the Ohio Turnpike near here last month when he saw an automobile narrowly miss a dog. He stopped, put the dog in the cab of his truck and continued to New York.

On his return trip to Wisconsin he tried to locate the owners of the dog, but when he was unsuccessful he took the animal home with him. He also was unsuccessful on a later trip to New York. Then he wrote to Mahoning County officials, giving them the number on the license attached to the dog's collar. The Fetters were located through records in the auditor's office, which issues dog licenses.

The Fetters said they learned that Zastrow is on a trip to California and may not be home for a week. Their problem now is how to get Penny back home.

Fire Call Postpones Election Of Firemen

Election of officers of the Tri-State Firemen's Association, which met Monday night at Lawrenceville, was postponed when the host department was called out on a reported fire at a Route 30 motel about 9:30.

Dick Wright, operator of the Wright Motel near the Pennsylvania state line, said paper in a waste basket ignited, and the firemen were called, but water was thrown on the blaze to extinguish it before the firemen arrived. There was only slight damage.

Nomination of officers was held at the meeting attended by 40. Election will be held at the February meeting at Wellsville, Devine Banks, president, said. Lunch was served.

Short-Range Test Hop Completed By Missile

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Jupiter missile, carrying flares to help mapmakers locate the exact position of Bermuda, has registered a successful short-range test flight.

The Army Ballistic Missile Agency announced that the missile performed perfectly Monday night.

The series of flares began flashing soon after the end of powered flight and were photographed simultaneously by three cameras located several hundred miles apart.

The pictures will be studied, and by determining where the flares ignited in relation to nearby stars, the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey will be able to establish Bermuda's precise position.

Short-Range Test Hop Completed By Missile

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Jupiter missile, carrying flares to help mapmakers locate the exact position of Bermuda, has registered a successful short-range test flight.

The Army Ballistic Missile Agency announced that the missile performed perfectly Monday night.

The series of flares began flashing soon after the end of powered flight and were photographed simultaneously by three cameras located several hundred miles apart.

The pictures will be studied, and by determining where the flares ignited in relation to nearby stars, the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey will be able to establish Bermuda's precise position.

Salineville's Sewage Plans Given Council

SALINEVILLE — Acceptance of a preliminary survey and estimate for a proposed sewage treatment plant and collection system was authorized by Council at a meeting Monday night.

The plan, originally submitted to the previous Council last fall by the Madison Engineering Associates of Mansfield, will be referred to state officials for renewal of the village's sewage permit which expired Jan. 15.

John J. Cunnings of the engineering firm last night reviewed the survey and estimate for the new Council. The previous Council had taken the plans under study, and had not officially accepted them.

The estimate of the project places the cost about $500,000, according to Cunnings, who said federal aid could be sought. He said when the village decides to proceed with the program, a bond issue could be submitted to the voters.

Cunnings said such an issue could not be placed on any ballot before next November. No contract has been signed with the firm, but it is to be given "favorable consideration" in event the project is authorized.

Cunnings said the proposed plant would be similar to one at Brewster in Stark County, constructed for a population of 4,000. Councilmen agreed to visit the plant there for an inspection.

Councilman William Hull of the building code committee requested legislation prepared which would place movable houses and trailers under the jurisdiction of the building code program.

Council discussed various street work, and agreed street projects would be restricted because of low funds.

Council took under study a proposal by Dale Wright of Lincoln St., Boy Scout representative, that Boy Scouts construct street name signs, with standards to be provided by the village and sign materials by the Ruritan Club. It was decided to delay approval until conflicting street names can be clarified.

Discussion was held on creating the post of deputy marshal, but action was postponed. The use of the cemetery custodian Lloyd Pletcher as a dog warden was also reviewed, and a suggestion that a village dog license be authorized to provide a warden's pay was taken under consideration.

Paul Temple of Carrollton, representative of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., asked about possible extension of gas mains to some sections of town, and he advised Council the utility will install up to 100 feet for each customer.

Village Employes Request Wage Raise

A request for a general pay increase for Salineville village employes was made in a letter received by Council Monday night. Street, water, police and cemetery workers asked an "across-the-board" pay hike, but no specific wage scale was suggested.

Council scheduled a meeting Feb. 8 with Woodland Cemetery trustees and members of the Board of Public Affairs to further study the request.

day withdrew a petition which he had filed with the County Election Board as a Democratic candidate for county engineer, then entered a new petition for the same post.

State law says a candidate for county engineer must be a licensed professional engineer. At the time he filed initially on Jan. 19, Ursu had passed the state examination but had not received his license. He received the license Friday, so decided to withdraw the first petition and file again.

The action cost Ursu an extra $45.75—the filing fee for the post, based on a charge of half of one per cent of the annual salary of $9,150. State law does not permit the Election Board to refund a filing fee, so Ursu was required to pay $45.75 with each petition.

Meanwhile, Merle Hady of North Georgetown, a Knox Township police constable, filed for the Democratic nomination for sheriff.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said a flood of filings is expected before the deadline Wednesday, Feb. 3, at 4 p. m., based on the number of petitions that has been obtained from his office for circulation.

Democrats already have entered candidates for every office, but the Republican slate is incomplete so far.

Hancock Has 5 More Aspirants In Primary

A 29-year-old Weirton man bidding for the nomination of Hancock County sheriff was among 5 candidates who entered West Virginia's primary May 10 by filing today and Monday afternoon at the County Courthouse in New Cumberland.

John Paul DeFelice, co-owner of the Highland Motor Co., in Weirton, is seeking nomination as sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

DeFelice, making his first bid for public office, is the fourth Democrat to file for the sheriff's post held by Clayton H. Hobbs. One Republican filed.

Other new candidates include A. L. Stackpole of Congo near Newell, seeking renomination on the Democratic ticket as county surveyor; Earl Cox of Newell, for Republican constable of Grant District; Vernon C. Richards of Weirton, for Democratic constable of Butler District, and Gail C. Ash of Weirton, for committeeman of the 5th Ward on the Republican ticket.

The filings bring to 46 the total of candidates for the primary. This includes 11 Republicans, 32 Democrats and 3 non-partisan candidates for the County Board of Education. The deadline is midnight Feb. 6.

Ike's Policies Are Attacked By Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic majority on the Senate-House Economic Committee charged today that Eisenhower administration policies had stunted the nation's economic growth since 1953.

Describing them as inadequate to meet the nation's needs, the Democrats said the policies also had led to unnecessary unemployment and price increases.

Republicans on the committee fired back that the majority report was "unbalanced and evasive," and "marred by partisanship."

The majority said it would not support removal of the interest ceiling on long-term bonds—one of the President's major requests of the session — unless the administration made "major reforms in fiscal, monetary and debt management policies."

This the minority report described as "nothing but political blackmail."

The majority report was peppered with numerous recommendations for alternative policies to those followed by the administration in the last seven years.

One section recommended that the knotty farm problem be met by direct subsidy payments. It said the public will not endure much longer the present crop price support program.

Other recommendations included a major federal aid to education, help for depressed areas, tax revisions, more liberal foreign trade policies and more vigorous antitrust law enforcement.

The report summed up the committee members' views on a year-long $200,000 study of the problems of inflation, unemployment and economic growth.

The study was first suggested by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) in a speech in December 1958. It has been described in some quarters as the Democratic answer to the administration's hammering at the inflation issue, but Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill), the committee chairman, said he did not want to characterize the report in political terms.

The majority and minority reports are considered certain to get much attention as representing Democratic and Republican views on economic issues in the 1960 campaign.

The majority report said the study had shown that with proper policies, it was possible to achieve the trio of goals—"a high and sustained rate of economic growth, relatively full employment, without creeping or galloping inflation" — which it said the Eisenhower administration had failed to reach.

On growth, the report said the nation's gross national product—the measurement of output of all goods and services—had advanced at the rate of only 2.3 per cent annually since 1953. In the preceding six-year period in the Truman administration, it was 4.6 per cent the report said.

It declared that adoption of wise policies could assure a 4½ per cent rate in the next 15 years. This would mean a 971-billion-dollar output in 1975, more than double the 480 billion of 1959, it noted.

The Republicans countered that dates in the majority report were "invariably and obviously juggled to put the worst possible light on the record of the present administration and exalt the record of previous Democratic administrations."

Figures cited for the Truman era, they noted, covered the big resurgence after World War II and much of the Korean War period.

Gas Price Cuts Seen Spreading To Chester

At least two Chester service stations had reduced gasoline prices to 27.9 cents a gallon today and the rest of the nine stations in the city were considering price revisions.

The reduction was apparently made in line with a cut in prices in many East Liverpool gas stations. The city price cuts began about two weeks ago in the East End as some operators sought to meet competition from an out-of-state outlet.

Reappraisal In Hancock Outlined For PTA Council

Seventy-five heard Edward G. Haislop of Charleston explain a reappraisal program under way in Hancock County when the County PTA Council met Monday night in the Pughtown School.

Haislop, director of assessors and equalization under Donald C. Carman, West Virginia state tax commissioner, pointed out the county's property assessments must be raised to curtail losses in state aid for the education system.

The county stands to lose about $28,000 in 1960-61 if assessments are not boosted to the 50 per cent level as set by the state tax commissioner.

Haislop was accompanied by Edward L. Suplee, county assessor. They were introduced by Harold Proudfoot, legislative chairman.

During business, Mrs. Alvin Reed of Chester was named chairman of a nominatimg committee for election in March. Mrs. John Stankiewicz of Weirton and Mrs. Joseph Endry of New Cumberland also were named to the committee.

The council's annual banquet has been set tentatively for May 16 in the First Christian Church in Chester, Mrs. Albert Ferguson, hospitality chairman, reported.

Mrs. A. W. McConnell of Weirton, past state president, was guest speaker. She reviewed the founding of the County Council and discussed life memberships. She was presented with a Founder's Day cake.

Principal R. O. Stevens announced that "open house" observance will be held Feb. 19 at the new 14-classroom Pughtown School.

Other guests were Mrs. Herman Bartlett of Wheeling, regional director; Mrs. James Greathouse of Beach Bottom, state publications chairman; Wilbur Bickmyer of Wheeling, state membership chairman, and Robert H. Miller of Weirton, John Boyd of Chester and Dr. W. Dale Williams, of Pughtown, members of the County Board of Education seeking re-nomination in the May 10 primary.

The next council meeting was planned in March at the Broadview School in Weirton.

Bailiff To Deliver Court's New Rules

Wilbert Taylor, Municipal Court bailiff, will make like a postman in the next few days, going the rounds of about 40 East Liverpool law offices to deliver copies of new court rules drawn up by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

After looking into the cost of postage and big manila envelopes for mailing the bulky documents, the judge said today the delivery job will be turned over to the bailiff as a money-saving move. Virtually all lawyers' offices are within a narrow radius downtown and can be reached quickly afoot, he pointed out.

The judge estimated the novel delivery system would save the court 30 to 40 cents on each copy of the rules, considering the postage, envelopes and clerical time for preparing the mailing.

The court's new rules will go into effect Feb. 1.

Settling It On The Target Range

The deliberate shift in Pentagon emphasis to optimism about security, instead of the former emphasis on the "missile lag," is producing a new climate of confidence in public opinion.

Even a cautious expert in defense like Hanson W. Baldwin of the New York Times feels justified in saying that U.S. optimism is justified by the facts. When the new secretary of defense, Thomas S. Gates Jr., said last week that the United States had a favorable balance in the total deterrent power of nuclear weapons system, Mr. Baldwin declared the secretary's optimism was well based.

Then when the Soviet Union announced it had fired its new long-range rocket 7,760 miles and dropped the rocket's nose cone 1.24 miles from its target in the Pacific, the propaganda impact was countered promptly by an announcement from Cape Canaveral that the U.S. Atlas missile launched Jan. 7 into the South Atlantic had carried its payload to within two miles of the target with another 2,000 miles of range sill left after covering a distance of 6,300 miles.

THIS IS THE NEW Pentagon publicity line. The United States is not going to be outtalked any more by its chief rival for missile supremacy. It is not going to forget in the future that the deterrent effect of its security program consists of what its rival reads in newspapers and that too much pessimism could be as dangerous as to little progress.

Due in large part to political sharpshooting and the habit of U.S. militarists in making a poor mouth when asking for ever-larger appropriations from Congress, there has been a distortion of fact about the state of U.S. defense. Optimism, too, can be overdone. But there can be no doubt that pessimism has been overdone.

The day may never come when international rivals will be satisfied to settle their differences on the target ranges of the two great oceans, though that is the effect of what they are doing at the moment.

They are in a contest to impress each other —and their allies—with the deterrent power of their newly developed weapons plus the total power of the older weapons still in being.

IF THE SOVIET UNION announces a new triumph, the United States will try to match it with some triumph of equal magnitude. In actual fact, the Pentagon never was as far behind its Russian counterpart as its critics and Cassandras said it was.

At the outset of a national campaign in which the party out of power in the executive branch is expected to charge that the Eisenhower administration has made a total failure of national defense, it is heartening to know that the claims of failure will be offset by even stronger claims of success.

End Of The Cleveland News

When it was announced last Saturday that the Cleveland News was publishing its last edition, newspaper people were sad but not surprised.

The news never had been out of the financial distress that caused it to be rescued from trouble in 1932, when it was taken over by the Forest City Publishing Co., organized at that time to publish the Plain Dealer in the morning field and the News in the evening field. It was a poor second to the Cleveland Press.

Its costs, however, continued to rise, as costs have continued to rise in all newspaper operations. Eventually there would be a limit to ability and willingness to absorb costs that could not be covered by income from advertising and circulation.

That time came last week when the sale of the News to the Press was announced. Henceforth, Cleveland will have one morning and one afternoon paper—a familiar pattern in large cities. In small cities, the pattern is for one newspaper.

Two forces shape these patterns.

First, advertisers tend to concentrate their advertising in the newspaper that gives them the better results—and that militates against the success of the "second' paper in a competitive field.

Second, readers tend to give their support to the paper with the larger volume of news and advertising—and this further militates against the success of a "second" paper trying to pull itself abreast of a front-running competitor.

Many people liked the News, its policies and its personnel. They are saddened by its passing, even though many were prepared for the eventuality of the blow.

The News has joined an ever-lengthening list the U.S. newspapers that could not bear the losses of production costs that outran income.

It's Time To 'March' Again

Mothers in district communities are marking time today preparatory to another "march" Wednesday night in the battle against crippling diseases—polio, birth defects, arthritis.

Despite the vast inroads made by Salk vaccine, the need for funds is as great as ever—in fact, even greater in view of the expanded program. Dick Brian, southern co-chairman in Columbiana County's part of the battle, has advanced some figures which emphasize this.

He explained that the national polio foundation still is caring for some 50,000 youngsters in hospitals and that "in East Liverpool we have a bill for one patient for 88 days' hospitalization at a cost of $1,930, while a county patient at a Youngstown hospital has a bill of $19,000."

Turning to the other phase of the program, Mr. Brian said "that one out of every 16 babies born has some kind of a birth defect, while arthritis afflicts many youngsters as well as adults."

Man-made boundaries mean nothing to crippling diseases. Mr. Brian's figures can apply equally well to Wellsville, Chester, Newell, Midland and other district communities.

The fund drive calls for a united effort. Make sure your porch light is on when the volunteer workers arrive. And give to the limit of your financial ability!

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Idea for a budget message that would be read and understood by the public.

"Fellow citizens: This is my annual message on the federal debt. What is happening to the bankroll would scare the hide off you if you would take time from soft living to show 20-20 vision and concern for tomorrow.

"But I am aware that a 280-billion-dollar national debt, an 80-billion spending program and only an outside chance of saving a dime will not grip you as much as the Finch murder case, Hollywood's latest scandal, today's racing results or the birth of a hippo at a public zoo.

"This is punk citizenship, blind flying and dumbness beyond the call of routine stupidity.

"By your indifference you put your children and their children in the pressure cooker. I wish I might give you the budget story with last minute flashes from the crime syndicate, the Miami niteries and all Las Vegas entertainment programs, as I know this would be the sure way to hold your interest.

"An offer of cash prizes to the taxpayer who best completed in ten words the sentence 'I like to give my country's economic perils the brushoff because . . . .' might help.

"One of these days a President will get the attention of the general public through a budget message read in turn not only by the President but by Miss America, two French movie stars, the Gabor girls, the most valuable ball player of the fiscal year, Tommy Manville, a couple of TV cowboys and the third drum-majorette from the left in the last Rose Bowl pageant. This will command attention.

"One billion dollars used to be a figure mentioned only by bacilli counters.

"This was away back before a man could be born on a credit card, live on deferred payments, die with loan office protection and be placed in a de luxe mausoleum paid for through town, state and federal aid.

"But why go on? This budget is longer than "Forever Amber" but it has no sex interest and is not the "Play of the Week" or the latest script on the Gamble Benedict-Andre Porumbeanu case. So it largely will be ignored. But who can blame me for trying?"

Commercial interruptions on TV are funnier than anything in comedy situations. A scene in which a woman tumbled out dead from a cabinet into which a magician had thrust swords was interrupted by "Are you protected by dental plates?" Omigosh!

A government man with a head for figures says that to appreciate what a million dollars means, you should know that if you stood over a hole and dropped a 20 dollar bill every minute it would take 95 years to finish the task. There would always be the fellow who would do it while yelling, "Look, mom! no hands! "

Westbrook Pegler recently recalled the old melodrama days of such thrillers as "Across the Pacific," "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," etc. It took us back to our boyhood and the early memory of rush to Bunnell's Grand Opera House to see "Across the Pacific" in which the first Gatling gun was used. "The Great Train Robbery," "Wedded but Parted," "A Southern Romance," "Blue Jeans," and "Through the Breakers" were others of the period.

Pegler tells of a stirring saw mill thriller in which a girl was rescued from a buzz-saw in the nick of time. How about the play in which the villain put the bound-and-gagged hero under a huge granite block in a quarry, with rescue coming just as the stone fell with a crash?

Boat buying is now made easier by the help of banks which have special "boat loans" departments pleading with the public to come in and borrow money on easy terms to join yachting circles. Some terms allow seven years to pay, with as little down as $500 on "dream boats."

The day when you could say of a man going out of the harbor on his yacht, "He must have money to burn," is over. Today, even in a twin-screw job, he may be cruising between time payments and putting the binoculars on every channel buoy to make certain there is no collection agent behind it.

Rickie Lane has funny material but can you remember away back when no ventriloquist could get to first base if his lips moved throughout his act?

Sen. John Kennedy, probably realizing that too much hair can cost him the support of bald-headed voters, has submitted to a new hair-do, eliminating the flourishing mop over his forehead. This is wisdom at its best and we think that if Jack wins there should be a cabinet job for his barber.

Stop That Man!

Labor Dislikes Lyndon Johnson

By Victor Riesel

I guess it's quite all right to steal a lead from those political writers, Gilbert and Sullivan. They're not covering this presidential campaign. If they were, they'd start this story, as it should be, with "a paradox, a paradox, a most ingenious paradox" —because it's the story of the nation's most influential labor leaders trying to stop the Democratic party's most influential leader from getting the nomination.

Victor Riesel

But if this chap, Lyndon Johnson, should get the top of the ticket, the labor chiefs highest AFL-CIO councils will officially endorse him as they did Adlai Stevenson against Dwight Eisenhower.

THIS PREDICTION is based on a fairly inclusive poll of policy-making union officials—inclusive enough to be conclusive about one fact: There is no rift between labor and the Democratic National Committee.

There have been a score of discussions between the committee leadership and such labor men as George Harrison (Railway Clerks Brotherhood) and Jim Carey (International Union of Electrical Workers) as well as others who want to remain anonymous.

In these, Democrats such as Paul Butler have been assured that the national AFL-CIO will endorse their candidate.

Reason: Labor leaders are adamantly anti-Republican. Richard Nixon's steel strike saga won him no support in policy-making labor ranks. Fact is the unionists are so determined to fight him they will back any of the current Democratic hopefuls.

Failure to endorse a Democratic candidate officially would be interpreted as indirect support of the Republicans. The labor people will not permit this to happen.

Publicly, of course, the strategy is to say that they are neutral until there is a presidential nomination.

In private some have said to the Democrats that they would prefer the nomination of Sen. Jack Kennedy or Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

They talk little of Stevenson. They say that they're not overly enthusiastic about Sen. Stuart Symington, despite Harry Truman's off-the-record talks.

WHAT DISTURBS THEM is to be put in a vise—where they'd have to take Johnson "in his present image." That means as part of the Southern bloc. That's why, for example, some of the labor men first refused to take their usual tickets from the Democrats for the Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet in Washington.

They sent word they wouldn't sit with the Southerners because of the passage of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act and because of the failure of Congress to push bills on civil rights and proposals to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour.

Then Paul Butler and his colleagues inside the party said, in effect, why punish the entire organization because of your opposition to the Southern bloc. Late last week the recalcitrant labor chiefs ordered their tickets.

There will be nine tables taken by unions ranging from the Auto Workers to the Mine Workers—including the United Steelworkers of America.

On the dais will be Jim Carey, Joe Bierne of the Communications Workers, Arthur Goldberg, John Owens of the Miners, Bill Doherty of the Letter Carriers and Victor Reuther sitting in for his brother Walter.

What the inner party group has been saying to the union chiefs is that they really have no problem. They say that the only chance for Lyndon Johnson to get the nomination is for him to deliver on the civil rights and the minimum wage demands of the libera-labor coalition. That would change the "image."

THIS WOULD MEAN breaking with the Southern bloc—or at least swinging them into line. Johnson might do just that. In the past two weeks he has discussed minimum wage hikes with such labor people as Art Goldberg; the Cloth-ing Workers' Jack Potofsky, and the Hatters' Alex Rose.

Johnson has sat with a civil liberties group led by Walter Reuther. They did get some promise of action.

Furthermore, insiders report that Johnson and Hubert Humphrey's strategists are working together.

If the gentleman from Texas delivers to the labor men, it would make it easier. But delivery or not, they hope he doesn't get the nomination. For whoever gets it, they'll have to take. They are eager to move the Republicans out of the White House.

Contrary Opinion

By Truman Twill

All my knowledge of psychology is self-taught, with one exception. I learned about Pavlov's dogs in a classroom.

Pavlov proved with dogs that slobbered when a bell was rung because the same bell also was rung at mealtime that animals can be trained to make responses by planting associations of ideas in their brains.

This became the basis of present-day civilization, including brain-washing. It is the foundation of sloganeering and politicking. It is what makes you stop when the traffic light turns red, etc.

Beyond Pavlov my knowledge was picked up the hard way, including the following gem of an idea about contrary opinion.

Wherever you go and whatever you propose, you run into contrary opinion. This is a special brand that needs to be understood so it can be dealt with systematically.

Many people are so constituted that they cannot agree to any idea put before them; they automatically and instantaneously get rednecked, double up their fists and oppose it.

They do this to show what rugged characters they are. No one is going to put anything over on them. No sir. No siree, Bob, and you can lay to that, John Silver.

They fight for the sake of the fight. They defend their rights. They circulate petitions, adopt resolutions and hold meetings. They think they are the salt of the earth, so they pour themselves into the open wounds of civilization.

By the time they get through, it doesn't matter what anyone else thinks. The affirmative side has been drowned out. Their real name is "negativists" — people, people, especially children, who refuse to do what is suggested or do the opposite.

One of the problems of our times is negativism. Years ago, a friend of mine figured out what to do about it.

His job required him to work with a chronic negativist. The only way he could get this bird to go along with anything was to propose that he do the opposite.

Years later, remembering this formula for dealing with negativists, I tried it on a balky child who was upsetting our household with negativism.

Instead of urging the little mule to eat what had been put on his plate, I would give him the eye and say, "I wouldn't eat any of that crud, bud." Whereupon he would lace into it like a starving jockey.

Eventually, the problem worked itself out. The kid learned that it was more fun to eat than fight. In an upside-down way, he proved Pavlov's dogs knew what they were slobbering about. It takes more than one kind of conditioned reflex to make a world.

I wonder why this same kind of double negativism wouldn't take care of the problem of getting consent for public improvements. Instead of asking people to consent and running into a stone wall of opposition, ask them not to consent, and they would knock themselves out to prove they did not have to not consent.

It isn't the proposition they object to. They object to being asked to give consent. They have to prove how tough they are. They have to show they are tough opponents.

So all right all ready. Let 'em show it in reverse. They'll never know what happened until it's too late, then they won't care. They will have proved what they wanted to prove. They don't play dead for anybody. They wear no man's collar. No sir. No siree, Bob!

Political Scare Tactics

By David Lawrence

Downgrading U.S. Endangers Peace

The greatest danger America faces today is from its own politicians. They are trying to win votes while telling the Russians that America is weak in defenses. Fears that this might lead the Communist dictatorship to miscalculate and take chances are expressed by the highest military officers of the United States.

David Lawrence

To make a political issue of the nation's defenses is risky business. Yet several of the Democrats who are seeking the presidential nomination are regularly knocking their own country's defense position.

They are doing so notwithstanding repeated statements from the military chiefs that the United States has an over-all striking power superior to that of the Soviets.

Perhaps the most severe criticism of the tendency to downgrade America's military position for the sake of politics has come from the highest military officer in our government — Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He isn't, of course, running for any political office. He merely represents the composite judgment of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force.

HE HAS JUST SAID in testimony before a House Defense Appropriations subcommittee which was released a few days ago:

"Gen. Twining: Today we hear and read a tremendous volume of material comparing the strength of the United States and the free world with that of the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc. All too often the writers and commentators are inclined to degrade the capabilities of the American people and the peoples of the free world. At the same time, the efforts of the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc are reported in glowing terms.

"The plain and unadulterated truth of the matter is that the moral, military, physical and economic strengths of our people and of our allies have been adequate to resist and deter Communist aggression. I am confident that this will continue to be the case. . .

"Rep. Mahon (D-Texas), (chairman of the subcommittee): Now it is obvious to me that in this presentation (by Secretary Gates and Gen. Twinig), you have had in mind some of the critical things which have been said with respect to the capability of the United States and the Department of Defense.

"You have had in mind, I think, various columns in the press and statements made by various, political and nonpolitical figures. I think we are all interested in one thing and that is facing up to the truth and to the facts of life from the standpoint of national defense. . . .

"Gen. Twining, you spoke very feelingly about our defense capabilities. While you have not said so, I had the feeling as you spoke — and most of your discussion was off the record—that probably you feared that the United States was being sold short in the eyes of the American people and in the eyes of the world with respect to our military prowess. What is your feeling about that?"

"Gen. Twining: We are in a position now, as you say, when we can annihilate each other. We must not let that ever happen. . . .

"We have great strength, we are a powerful country and I do not think we should downgrade our capabilities as a nation to the Russians. That is what gives me cause for concern — this downgrading of our capability. It looks like we are going to get licked every day.

"I am afraid that the public will become frightened some day. It sometimes appears to me that there is an element in the country that thinks, 'gentlemen, we'd rather be Red than be dead.' It is a serious thing.

"My point is, let us not downgrade our capability at a time when we are entering upon negotiations which may lead to peace and disarmament. We want to deal from strength. We have terrific strength in the military and in our country. . . .

"Chairman Mahon: You have confirmed to me your feeling that you are deeply disturbed by the possibility that we might convince the opponents that we do not have the fighting strength which you feel we have.

"Gen. Twining: That is right. If he thinks we are not confident of our national ability he may assume that there is an open gate for him. Similarly, we should not build up in our own people this lack of confidence in our national capability."

THE FOREGOING testimony might be well worth taking to heart by all political candidates and their spokesmen. It seems incredible that politicians should think the voters could be convinced that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has not done his utmost to see that the United States possesses adequate military power to deter an enemy.

Space And Missiles

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The year 1960 started off with a grand snafu on how this country compares militarily with the Soviet Union. It probably is the result of a not-too-clear explanation by Thomas S. Gates Jr., secretary of defense.

Gates and the Eisenhower administration, after his testimony before several congressional committees, were accused by critics of trying to paint a too-rosy picture of American defenses in this election year.

What Gates actually meant to say seems to come down to this:

Although the Soviet Union is working hard on intercontinental ballistic missiles, the administration doubts the U.S.S.R. would start a war because this country's own defenses are strong enough to discourage an attack.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate's Armed Services Committee, after listening to Gates and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said last week: "At present I think we are strong enough to prevent any attack, except by a madman."

A novice in defense matters, in order to understand what the present fuss is about, must keep a certain distinction clearly in mind: The difference between space development and military missile development.

The Soviets are definitely ahead of this country in space development. Gates' predecessor, former Secretary Neil H. McElroy, said as late as Dec. 2 this country will lag behind the Soviet Union in military ICBMs for at least three years.

But he said, just before his retirement, this nation has enough striking power in other forms to offset the military missile gap. For the next three years, he added, this country would rely heavily on the B52 bomber.

As of today, he said, the United States and the Soviet Union have about the same number of ICBMs — a very small number. But he added that in the next few years Soviet production would outstrip this country's.

Although he said last July that the Soviet Union had fewer than 10 ICBMs capable of hitting the United States, not long afterwards Premier Nikita Khrushchev said a Soviet plant was turning out 250 missiles a year.

This is how Gates started the mixup with fancy talk before the committees: "Heretofore, we have been giving you intelligence figures that dealt with the theoretical Soviet capability. This is the first time that we have had an intelligence estimate that says 'this is what the Soviet union probably will do.' "

Democrats in Congress blasted this kind of talk. Gates seemed to be talking a kind of guessing-game about Soviet intentions. That could be interpreted as mind-reading.

Finally, Monday, Gates tried to untangle his language by explaining: Neither he nor the administration has been trying to guess Soviet intentions in building ICBMs. Even if the Soviets build more ICBMs than this country thinks they will, this country still is strong enough to discourage an attack.

He explained he meant that this country, through a combination of missiles, manned bombers and other advanced weapons has a big enough nuclear counterpunch to discourage an attack.

He was backed up in this by Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff.

On Jan. 12 White said the United States is much stronger than the Soviet Union in military power and may have a slight edge in war missiles. (He apparently didn't mean ICBMs.)

He said the Strategic Air Command now has the "ability to destroy the war-making capacity of any aggressive nation, no matter how powerful, and to achieve military victory."

Sen. Russell said he agreed with Gates and Twining that "we still have the ability to destroy any aggressor who attacks us."

Odd Facts

One of the major rooms in Boston University's Faculty Club has a giant, old-fashioned black stove dominating the scene. The room was the kitchen when the club opened in 1902. The stove remained behind when a modern kitchen was installed.

The paper used in the making of U. S. currency is of the toughest linen and is made by a secret process protected by statute, penalizing its manufacture for other purposes.

Settling It On The Target Range

The deliberate shift in Pentagon emphasis to optimism about security, instead of the former emphasis on the "missile lag," is producing a new climate of confidence in public opinion.

Even a cautious expert in defense like Hanson W. Baldwin of the New York Times feels justified in saying that U.S. optimism is justified by the facts. When the new secretary of defense, Thomas S. Gates Jr., said last week that the United States had a favorable balance in the total deterrent power of nuclear weapons system, Mr. Baldwin declared the secretary's optimism was well based.

Then when the Soviet Union announced it had fired its new long-range rocket 7,760 miles and dropped the rocket's nose cone 1.24 miles from its target in the Pacific, the propaganda impact was countered promptly by an announcement from Cape Canaveral that the U.S. Atlas missile launched Jan. 7 into the South Atlantic had carried its payload to within two miles of the target with another 2,000 miles of range sill left after covering a distance of 6,300 miles.

THIS IS THE NEW Pentagon publicity line. The United States is not going to be outtalked any more by its chief rival for missile supremacy. It is not going to forget in the future that the deterrent effect of its security program consists of what its rival reads in newspapers and that too much pessimism could be as dangerous as to little progress.

Due in large part to political sharpshooting and the habit of U.S. militarists in making a poor mouth when asking for ever-larger appropriations from Congress, there has been a distortion of fact about the state of U.S. defense. Optimism, too, can be overdone. But there can be no doubt that pessimism has been overdone.

The day may never come when international rivals will be satisfied to settle their differences on the target ranges of the two great oceans, though that is the effect of what they are doing at the moment.

They are in a contest to impress each other —and their allies—with the deterrent power of their newly developed weapons plus the total power of the older weapons still in being.

IF THE SOVIET UNION announces a new triumph, the United States will try to match it with some triumph of equal magnitude. In actual fact, the Pentagon never was as far behind its Russian counterpart as its critics and Cassandras said it was.

At the outset of a national campaign in which the party out of power in the executive branch is expected to charge that the Eisenhower administration has made a total failure of national defense, it is heartening to know that the claims of failure will be offset by even stronger claims of success.

End Of The Cleveland News

When it was announced last Saturday that the Cleveland News was publishing its last edition, newspaper people were sad but not surprised.

The news never had been out of the financial distress that caused it to be rescued from trouble in 1932, when it was taken over by the Forest City Publishing Co., organized at that time to publish the Plain Dealer in the morning field and the News in the evening field. It was a poor second to the Cleveland Press.

Its costs, however, continued to rise, as costs have continued to rise in all newspaper operations. Eventually there would be a limit to ability and willingness to absorb costs that could not be covered by income from advertising and circulation.

That time came last week when the sale of the News to the Press was announced. Henceforth, Cleveland will have one morning and one afternoon paper—a familiar pattern in large cities. In small cities, the pattern is for one newspaper.

Two forces shape these patterns.

First, advertisers tend to concentrate their advertising in the newspaper that gives them the better results—and that militates against the success of the "second' paper in a competitive field.

Second, readers tend to give their support to the paper with the larger volume of news and advertising—and this further militates against the success of a "second" paper trying to pull itself abreast of a front-running competitor.

Many people liked the News, its policies and its personnel. They are saddened by its passing, even though many were prepared for the eventuality of the blow.

The News has joined an ever-lengthening list the U.S. newspapers that could not bear the losses of production costs that outran income.

It's Time To 'March' Again

Mothers in district communities are marking time today preparatory to another "march" Wednesday night in the battle against crippling diseases—polio, birth defects, arthritis.

Despite the vast inroads made by Salk vaccine, the need for funds is as great as ever—in fact, even greater in view of the expanded program. Dick Brian, southern co-chairman in Columbiana County's part of the battle, has advanced some figures which emphasize this.

He explained that the national polio foundation still is caring for some 50,000 youngsters in hospitals and that "in East Liverpool we have a bill for one patient for 88 days' hospitalization at a cost of $1,930, while a county patient at a Youngstown hospital has a bill of $19,000."

Turning to the other phase of the program, Mr. Brian said "that one out of every 16 babies born has some kind of a birth defect, while arthritis afflicts many youngsters as well as adults."

Man-made boundaries mean nothing to crippling diseases. Mr. Brian's figures can apply equally well to Wellsville, Chester, Newell, Midland and other district communities.

The fund drive calls for a united effort. Make sure your porch light is on when the volunteer workers arrive. And give to the limit of your financial ability!

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Idea for a budget message that would be read and understood by the public.

"Fellow citizens: This is my annual message on the federal debt. What is happening to the bankroll would scare the hide off you if you would take time from soft living to show 20-20 vision and concern for tomorrow.

"But I am aware that a 280-billion-dollar national debt, an 80-billion spending program and only an outside chance of saving a dime will not grip you as much as the Finch murder case, Hollywood's latest scandal, today's racing results or the birth of a hippo at a public zoo.

"This is punk citizenship, blind flying and dumbness beyond the call of routine stupidity.

"By your indifference you put your children and their children in the pressure cooker. I wish I might give you the budget story with last minute flashes from the crime syndicate, the Miami niteries and all Las Vegas entertainment programs, as I know this would be the sure way to hold your interest.

"An offer of cash prizes to the taxpayer who best completed in ten words the sentence 'I like to give my country's economic perils the brushoff because . . . .' might help.

"One of these days a President will get the attention of the general public through a budget message read in turn not only by the President but by Miss America, two French movie stars, the Gabor girls, the most valuable ball player of the fiscal year, Tommy Manville, a couple of TV cowboys and the third drum-majorette from the left in the last Rose Bowl pageant. This will command attention.

"One billion dollars used to be a figure mentioned only by bacilli counters.

"This was away back before a man could be born on a credit card, live on deferred payments, die with loan office protection and be placed in a de luxe mausoleum paid for through town, state and federal aid.

"But why go on? This budget is longer than "Forever Amber" but it has no sex interest and is not the "Play of the Week" or the latest script on the Gamble Benedict-Andre Porumbeanu case. So it largely will be ignored. But who can blame me for trying?"

Commercial interruptions on TV are funnier than anything in comedy situations. A scene in which a woman tumbled out dead from a cabinet into which a magician had thrust swords was interrupted by "Are you protected by dental plates?" Omigosh!

A government man with a head for figures says that to appreciate what a million dollars means, you should know that if you stood over a hole and dropped a 20 dollar bill every minute it would take 95 years to finish the task. There would always be the fellow who would do it while yelling, "Look, mom! no hands! "

Westbrook Pegler recently recalled the old melodrama days of such thrillers as "Across the Pacific," "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," etc. It took us back to our boyhood and the early memory of rush to Bunnell's Grand Opera House to see "Across the Pacific" in which the first Gatling gun was used. "The Great Train Robbery," "Wedded but Parted," "A Southern Romance," "Blue Jeans," and "Through the Breakers" were others of the period.

Pegler tells of a stirring saw mill thriller in which a girl was rescued from a buzzsaw in the nick of time. How about the play in which the villain put the bound-and-gagged hero under a huge granite block in a quarry, with rescue coming just as the stone fell with a crash?

Boat buying is now made easier by the help of banks which have special "boat loans" departments pleading with the public to come in and borrow money on easy terms to join yachting circles. Some terms allow seven years to pay, with as little down as $500 on "dream boats."

The day when you could say of a man going out of the harbor on his yacht, "He must have money to burn," is over. Today, even in a twin-screw job, he may be cruising between time payments and putting the binoculars on every channel buoy to make certain there is no collection agent behind it.

Rickie Lane has funny material but can you remember away back when no ventriloquist could get to first base if his lips moved throughout his act?

Sen. John Kennedy, probably realizing that too much hair can cost him the support of bald-headed voters, has submitted to a new hair-do, eliminating the flourishing mop over his forehead. This is wisdom at its best and we think that if Jack wins there should be a cabinet job for his barber.

Stop That Man!

Labor Dislikes Lyndon Johnson

By Victor Riesel

I guess it's quite all right to steal a lead from those political writers, Gilbert and Sullivan. They're not covering this presidential campaign. If they were, they'd start this story, as it should be, with "a paradox, a paradox, a most ingenious paradox" —because it's the story of the nation's most influential labor leaders trying to stop the Democratic party's most influential leader from getting the nomination.

Victor Riesel

But if this chap, Lyndon Johnson, should get the top of the ticket, the labor chiefs highest AFL-CIO councils will officially endorse him as they did Adlai Stevenson against Dwight Eisenhower.

THIS PREDICTION is based on a fairly inclusive poll of policy-making union officials—inclusive enough to be conclusive about one fact: There is no rift between labor and the Democratic National Committee.

There have been a score of discussions between the committee leadership and such labor men as George Harrison (Railway Clerks Brotherhood) and Jim Carey (International Union of Electrical Workers) as well as others who want to remain anonymous.

In these, Democrats such as Paul Butler have been assured that the national AFL-CIO will endorse their candidate.

Reason: Labor leaders are adamantly anti-Republican. Richard Nixon's steel strike saga won him no support in policy-making labor ranks. Fact is the unionists are so determined to fight him they will back any of the current Democratic hopefuls.

Failure to endorse a Democratic candidate officially would be interpreted as indirect support of the Republicans. The labor people will not permit this to happen.

Publicly, of course, the strategy is to say that they are neutral until there is a presidential nomination.

In private some have said to the Democrats that they would prefer the nomination of Sen. Jack Kennedy or Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

They talk little of Stevenson. They say that they're not overly enthusiastic about Sen. Stuart Symington, despite Harry Truman's off-the-record talks.

WHAT DISTURBS THEM is to be put in a vise—where they'd have to take Johnson "in his present image." That means as part of the Southern bloc. That's why, for example, some of the labor men first refused to take their usual tickets from the Democrats for the Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet in Washington.

They sent word they wouldn't sit with the Southerners because of the passage of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act and because of the failure of Congress to push bills on civil rights and proposals to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour.

Then Paul Butler and his colleagues inside the party said, in effect, why punish the entire organization because of your opposition to the Southern bloc. Late last week the recalcitrant labor chiefs ordered their tickets.

There will be nine tables taken by unions ranging from the Auto Workers to the Mine Workers—including the United Steelworkers of America.

On the dais will be Jim Carey, Joe Bierne of the Communications Workers, Arthur Goldberg, John Owens of the Miners, Bill Doherty of the Letter Carriers and Victor Reuther sitting in for his brother Walter.

What the inner party group has been saying to the union chiefs is that they really have no problem. They say that the only chance for Lyndon Johnson to get the nomination is for him to deliver on the civil rights and the minimum wage demands of the libera-labor coalition. That would change the "image."

THIS WOULD MEAN breaking with the Southern bloc—or at least swinging them into line. Johnson might do just that. In the past two weeks he has discussed minimum wage hikes with such labor people as Art Goldberg; the Cloth-ing Workers' Jack Potofsky, and the Hatters' Alex Rose.

Johnson has sat with a civil liberties group led by Walter Reuther. They did get some promise of action.

Furthermore, insiders report that Johnson and Hubert Humphrey's strategists are working together.

If the gentleman from Texas delivers to the labor men, it would make it easier. But delivery or not, they hope he doesn't get the nomination. For whoever gets it, they'll have to take. They are eager to move the Republicans out of the White House.

Contrary Opinion

By Truman Twill

All my knowledge of psychology is self-taught, with one exception. I learned about Pavlov's dogs in a classroom.

Pavlov proved with dogs that slobbered when a bell was rung because the same bell also was rung at mealtime that animals can be trained to make responses by planting associations of ideas in their brains.

This became the basis of present-day civilization, including brain-washing. It is the foundation of sloganeering and politicking. It is what makes you stop when the traffic light turns red, etc.

Beyond Pavlov my knowledge was picked up the hard way, including the following gem of an idea about contrary opinion.

Wherever you go and whatever you propose, you run into contrary opinion. This is a special brand that needs to be understood so it can be dealt with systematically.

Many people are so constituted that they cannot agree to any idea put before them; they automatically and instantaneously get rednecked, double up their fists and oppose it.

They do this to show what rugged characters they are. No one is going to put anything over on them. No sir. No siree, Bob, and you can lay to that, John Silver.

They fight for the sake of the fight. They defend their rights. They circulate petitions, adopt resolutions and hold meetings. They think they are the salt of the earth, so they pour themselves into the open wounds of civilization.

By the time they get through, it doesn't matter what anyone else thinks. The affirmative side has been drowned out. Their real name is "negativists" — people, people, especially children, who refuse to do what is suggested or do the opposite.

One of the problems of our times is negativism. Years ago, a friend of mine figured out what to do about it.

His job required him to work with a chronic negativist. The only way he could get this bird to go along with anything was to propose that he do the opposite.

Years later, remembering this formula for dealing with negativists, I tried it on a balky child who was upsetting our household with negativism.

Instead of urging the little mule to eat what had been put on his plate, I would give him the eye and say, "I wouldn't eat any of that crud, bud." Whereupon he would lace into it like a starving jockey.

Eventually, the problem worked itself out. The kid learned that it was more fun to eat than fight. In an upside-down way, he proved Pavlov's dogs knew what they were slobbering about. It takes more than one kind of conditioned reflex to make a world.

I wonder why this same kind of double negativism wouldn't take care of the problem of getting consent for public improvements. Instead of asking people to consent and running into a stone wall of opposition, ask them not to consent, and they would knock themselves out to prove they did not have to not consent.

It isn't the proposition they object to. They object to being asked to give consent. They have to prove how tough they are. They have to show they are tough opponents.

So all right all ready. Let 'em show it in reverse. They'll never know what happened until it's too late, then they won't care. They will have proved what they wanted to prove. They don't play dead for anybody. They wear no man's collar. No sir. No siree, Bob!

Political Scare Tactics

By David Lawrence

Downgrading U.S. Endangers Peace

The greatest danger America faces today is from its own politicians. They are trying to win votes while telling the Russians that America is weak in defenses. Fears that this might lead the Communist dictatorship to miscalculate and take chances are expressed by the highest military officers of the United States.

David Lawrence

To make a political issue of the nation's defenses is risky business. Yet several of the Democrats who are seeking the presidential nomination are regularly knocking their own country's defense position.

They are doing so notwithstanding repeated statements from the military chiefs that the United States has an over-all striking power superior to that of the Soviets.

Perhaps the most severe criticism of the tendency to downgrade America's military position for the sake of politics has come from the highest military officer in our government — Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He isn't, of course, running for any political office. He merely represents the composite judgment of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force.

HE HAS JUST SAID in testimony before a House Defense Appropriations subcommittee which was released a few days ago:

"Gen. Twining: Today we hear and read a tremendous volume of material comparing the strength of the United States and the free world with that of the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc. All too often the writers and commentators are inclined to degrade the capabilities of the American people and the peoples of the free world. At the same time, the efforts of the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc are reported in glowing terms.

"The plain and unadulterated truth of the matter is that the moral, military, physical and economic strengths of our people and of our allies have been adequate to resist and deter Communist aggression. I am confident that this will continue to be the case. . .

"Rep. Mahon (D-Texas), (chairman of the subcommittee): Now it is obvious to me that in this presentation (by Secretary Gates and Gen. Twinig), you have had in mind some of the critical things which have been said with respect to the capability of the United States and the Department of Defense.

"You have had in mind, I think, various columns in the press and statements made by various political and nonpolitical figures. I think we are all interested in one thing and that is facing up to the truth and to the facts of life from the standpoint of national defense. . . .

"Gen. Twining, you spoke very feelingly about our defense capabilities. While you have not said so, I had the feeling as you spoke — and most of your discussion was off the record—that probably you feared that the United States was being sold short in the eyes of the American people and in the eyes of the world with respect to our military prowess. What is your feeling about that?"

"Gen. Twining: We are in a position now, as you say, when we can annihilate each other. We must not let that ever happen. . . .

"We have great strength, we are a powerful country and I do not think we should downgrade our capabilities as a nation to the Russians. That is what gives me cause for concern — this downgrading of our capability. It looks like we are going to get licked every day.

"I am afraid that the public will become frightened some day. It sometimes appears to me that there is an element in the country that thinks, 'gentlemen, we'd rather be Red than be dead.' It is a serious thing.

"My point is, let us not downgrade our capability at a time when we are entering upon negotiations which may lead to peace and disarmament. We want to deal from strength. We have terrific strength in the military and in our country. . . .

"Chairman Mahon: You have confirmed to me your feeling that you are deeply disturbed by the possibility that we might convince the opponents that we do not have the fighting strength which you feel we have.

"Gen. Twining: That is right. If he thinks we are not confident of our national ability he may assume that there is an open gate for him. Similarly, we should not build up in our own people this lack of confidence in our national capability."

THE FOREGOING testimony might be well worth taking to heart by all political candidates and their spokesmen. It seems incredible that politicians should think the voters could be convinced that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has not done his utmost to see that the United States possesses adequate military power to deter an enemy.

Space And Missiles

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The year 1960 started off with a grand snafu on how this country compares militarily with the Soviet Union. It probably is the result of a not-too-clear explanation by Thomas S. Gates Jr., secretary of defense.

Gates and the Eisenhower administration, after his testimony before several congressional committees, were accused by critics of trying to paint a too-rosy picture of American defenses in this election year.

What Gates actually meant to say seems to come down to this:

Although the Soviet Union is working hard on intercontinental ballistic missiles, the administration doubts the U.S.S.R. would start a war because this country's own defenses are strong enough to discourage an attack.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate's Armed Services Committee, after listening to Gates and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said last week: "At present I think we are strong enough to prevent any attack, except by a madman."

A novice in defense matters, in order to understand what the present fuss is about, must keep a certain distinction clearly in mind: The difference between space development and military missile development.

The Soviets are definitely ahead of this country in space development. Gates' predecessor, former Secretary Neil H. McElroy, said as late as Dec. 2 this country will lag behind the Soviet Union in military ICBMs for at least three years.

But he said, just before his retirement, this nation has enough striking power in other forms to offset the military missile gap. For the next three years, he added, this country would rely heavily on the B52 bomber.

As of today, he said, the United States and the Soviet Union have about the same number of ICBMs — a very small number. But he added that in the next few years Soviet production would outstrip this country's.

Although he said last July that the Soviet Union had fewer than 10 ICBMs capable of hitting the United States, not long afterwards Premier Nikita Khrushchev said a Soviet plant was turning out 250 missiles a year.

This is how Gates started the mixup with fancy talk before the committees: "Heretofore, we have been giving you intelligence figures that dealt with the theoretical Soviet capability. This is the first time that we have had an intelligence estimate that says 'this is what the Soviet union probably will do.' "

Democrats in Congress blasted this kind of talk. Gates seemed to be talking a kind of guessing-game about Soviet intentions. That could be interpreted as mind-reading.

Finally, Monday, Gates tried to untangle his language by explaining: Neither he nor the administration has been trying to guess Soviet intentions in building ICBMs. Even if the Soviets build more ICBMs than this country thinks they will, this country still is strong enough to discourage an attack.

He explained he meant that this country, through a combination of missiles, manned bombers and other advanced weapons has a big enough nuclear counterpunch to discourage an attack.

He was backed up in this by Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff.

On Jan. 12 White said the United States is much stronger than the Soviet Union in military power and may have a slight edge in war missiles. (He apparently didn't mean ICBMs.)

He said the Strategic Air Command now has the "ability to destroy the war-making capacity of any aggressive nation, no matter how powerful, and to achieve military victory."

Sen. Russell said he agreed with Gates and Twining that "we still have the ability to destroy any aggressor who attacks us."

Wife Named To Fill Lisbon Council Post

LISBON — Mrs. Blanche Neill, 301 W. Washington St., was appointed Monday evening to Council to succeed W. J. Loudon, who resigned because of ill health.

She is the first woman ever to serve in village Council.

Mrs. Neill is a clerk in the county recorder's office, past president of the Mid-County Republican Club, active in the Republican Party but never ran for any public office. Her husband, John (Dick) Neill Jr., is superintendent of the County Highway Department.

She will be sworn in before Council's next meeting on Feb. 8.

Mayor Dean Stockman read Loudon's resignation, effective Jan. 7, at the meeting last night. Loudon was the only Democrat elected last November.

In other business, Council passed two ordinances on third reading and ordered the solicitor to prepare another to name an alley.

Approved were a new ordinance governing truck traffic on village street — permitting local truckers more leniency, and another for right-of-way for a sewer over properties in Grandview and Smith Additions in northwest section.

Solicitor Joseph Baronzzi will present an ordinance naming the alley between N. Market St. and N. Beaver St., from Chestnut St. north to High St., as Buckeye Dr. Two businessmen, Walter Thomas and William Battle, requested the name so they can list an address on their stationery and titles for used cars.

Mayor Stockman appointed John Snyder Jr., 281 W. Pine St., a Post Office employe, to the Cemetery Board for a six-year term. Snyder replaces Frank Adomitis. Other board members are Lodge Thorne and Twing Hiscox.

Jack Thompson requested permission to use village streets for the annual Lions Club fair in September or October. Council agreed, providing the club obtains permission from store owners, as in previous years.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4111 was given permission to hold a magazine sale with profits to be used for hospital equipment to be loaned to village residents when needed.

Mayor Stockman referred unpaid parking meter tickets to the police committee for a recommendation for collection.

Council also discussed hiring of only residents for any village job in the future but no definite action was taken.

Other matters discussed were the drainage problem at the rear of the St. George's Parish Hall and possible replacement of a police cruiser that is worn beyond repair with 89,000 miles on it.

The Lisbon Historical Society will be contacted to determine if it will finance repair of the old cannon that previous Council gave away. Council reclaimed the war relic now stored at the village garage.

Clerk Ray Hempstead reported an agreement for reciprocal fire protection with Leetonia and Columbiana for three years.

Vending Service, Taxi Firm Change Owner In Deal

The Veterans Cab Co., East Liverpool's only taxi concern, and the Veterans Vending Service have changed hands in a deal negotiated by Hune, Inc., 237 W. 8th St., and Robert Freed, 300 E. 2nd St.

Freed is the new owner of the Veterans Cab Co., assuming the operation Monday, and Hune, Inc., is the new owner of the Veterans Vending Service, a cigarette service in East Liverpool, Newell and Chester which Freed formerly operated.

Hune, Inc., officers also were owners of the East Liverpool Transportation Co., which operated the Veterans Cab Co. They are Thayer A. McDaniel, president, Ronald J. McDaniel, vice president, and Robert T. McDaniel, secretary-treasurer.

Freed also is proprietor of two taverns — Freed's Place at 119 E. 6th St. and the Manhattan Cafe at 300 E. 2nd St.

The transaction involved the concern's 10 taxis. It employs about 15. Freed said he company will continue to maintain its headquarters in the Bus Terminal.

15 County Republicans To Attend Fund Dinner

Some 15 Republicans from Columbiana County are expected to attend a northeastern Ohio GOP fund - raising dinner Wednesday night at the Cleveland Public Auditorium.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson will be guest speaker at the $100-a-plate event—one of 75 such dinners slated throughout the nation to be addressed by closed circuit television by President Dwight Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon.

Ike Defends Space Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today there is no reason for Americans to hang their heads in shame over the progress of the nation's space exploration program.

Eisenhower told his news conference that while the Russians have made some spectacular advances in space the United States has a pretty good record on a solid scientific basis.

The President was asked if he does not believe this country is losing international prestige by not matching Russian achievements in space.

Turning on his questioner, Eisenhower asked, is international prestige involved? Not particularly, he said, answering his own question.

To an extent Eisenhower was disagreeing with George V. Allen, chief of the U.S. Information agency, who said last week that people abroad are judging American capacity in comparison with Soviet space achievements.

The United States, Eisenhower went on, has a record to be proud of in the last five years in space exploration.

Wife Named To Fill Lisbon Council Post

LISBON — Mrs. Blanche Neill, 301 W. Washington St., was appointed Monday evening to Council to succeed W. J. Loudon, who resigned because of ill health.

She is the first woman ever to serve in village Council.

Mrs. Neill is a clerk in the county recorder's office, past president of the Mid-County Republican Club, active in the Republican Party but never ran for any public office. Her husband, John (Dick) Neill Jr., is superintendent of the County Highway Department.

She will be sworn in before Council's next meeting on Feb. 8.

Mayor Dean Stockman read Loudon's resignation, effective Jan. 7, at the meeting last night. Loudon was the only Democrat elected last November.

In other business, Council passed two ordinances on third reading and ordered the solicitor to prepare another to name an alley.

Approved were a new ordinance governing truck traffic on village street — permitting local truckers more leniency, and another for right-of-way for a sewer over properties in Grandview and Smith Additions in northwest section.

Solicitor Joseph Baronzzi will present an ordinance naming the alley between N. Market St. and N. Beaver St., from Chestnut St. north to High St., as Buckeye Dr. Two businessmen, Walter Thomas and William Battle, requested the name so they can list an address on their stationery and titles for used cars.

Mayor Stockman appointed John Snyder Jr., 281 W. Pine St., a Post Office employe, to the Cemetery Board for a six-year term. Snyder replaces Frank Adomitis. Other board members are Lodge Thorne and Twing Hiscox.

Jack Thompson requested permission to use village streets for the annual Lions Club fair in September or October. Council agreed, providing the club obtains permission from store owners, as in previous years.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4111 was given permission to hold a magazine sale with profits to be used for hospital equipment to be loaned to village residents when needed.

Mayor Stockman referred unpaid parking meter tickets to the police committee for a recommendation for collection.

Council also discussed hiring of only residents for any village job in the future but no definite action was taken.

Other matters discussed were the drainage problem at the rear of the St. George's Parish Hall and possible replacement of a police cruiser that is worn beyond repair with 89,000 miles on it.

The Lisbon Historical Society will be contacted to determine if it will finance repair of the old cannon that previous Council gave away. Council reclaimed the war relic now stored at the village garage.

Clerk Ray Hempstead reported an agreement for reciprocal fire protection with Leetonia and Columbiana for three years.

FAR NORTH ROUNDUP

LASSOING LAPP. With perfect aim, a Lapp herdsman snares a reindeer during annual roundup.

PROUD LAPP. Standing in the midst of his reindeer herd, a Lapp herdsman holds a young reindeer by the antlers.

Reindeer are the cattle of Lapland, the bleak, barren land that stretches across the northern part of Norway, Sweden and Finland. From them the Lapp gets his tent, his blanket, part of his clothing, and his food.

Some of the reindeer wander wild, but others are herded like cattle on our western plains. They feed on mosses and lichens that cling to rocks and trees, visible above the snow that blankets the land for most of the year.

For the Lapps the most exciting time of the year is when they round up the reindeer from the snowy mountain pastures for the annual redivision among their owners. The big roundup is called the "Vendemia." It is a lasso-swinging operation in a setting of glistening white. The herdsmen sing as they work.

Not only do the short, sturdy Lapps separate their respective herds into work animals and those destined for slaughter, but they also make this the occasion for their annual reunion with friends and relatives after long isolation in the snowy wastes some 200 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

Bunching and running together, these reindeer are being driven into an enclosure after roundup.

A reindeer calf is held for ear-marking. Each herd owner has his own ear markings.

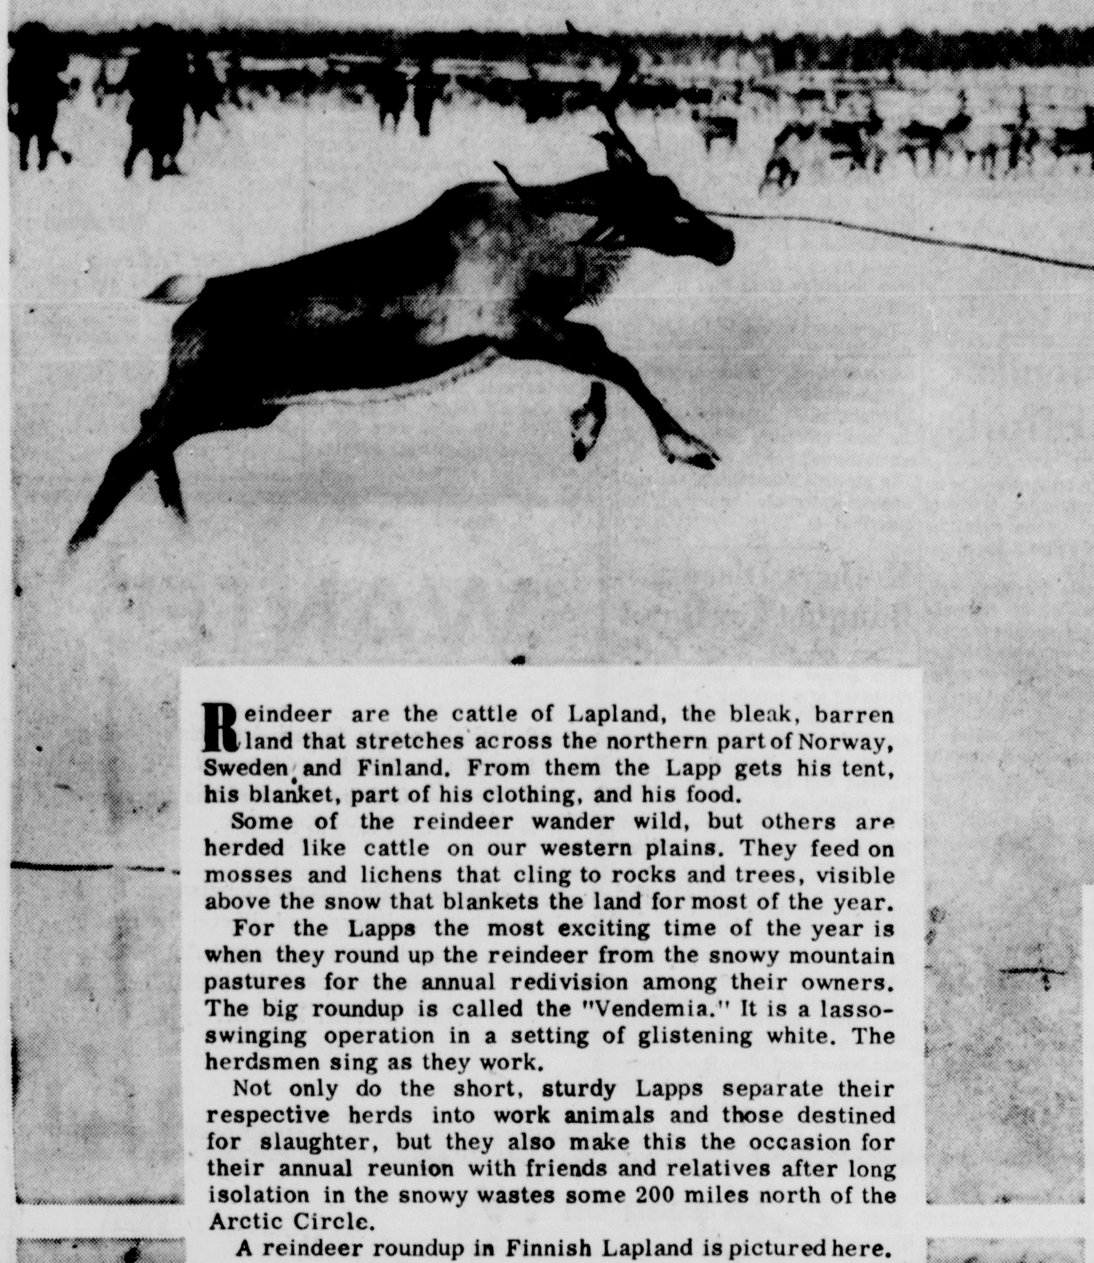

Roundup time is happy occasion for reunion of friends and relatives after long isolation in the snowy wastes.

Pennsylvania Slate Chosen

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania Democrats today boasted of a "big league party" and cited declining Republican voter registration in their hopes for a presidential victory.

Gov. David L. Lawrence told cheering members of the Democratic State Committee Monday that wiping out the present GOP registration edge of 70,000 likely would insure a Democratic victory in November.

The governor used the state committee as his sounding board after it had elected 42 delegates-at-large and 20 alternates to the Democratic National Convention at Los Angeles next July. It was the first large bloc of presidential delegates to be chosen in the nation.

The delegates-at-large include top-level party leaders such as Lawrence, Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa), Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia, and Rep. William J. Green (D-Pa), chairman of the Philadelphia Democratic City committee.

Pennsylvania will have 81 votes at the convention, exceeded only by New York's 114.

Stock Market Fever Hits 9th-Grade Class

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The stock market fever has hit the ninth grade at the West Shore Junior High School near here.

Given a choice of investing their money in savings bonds or stocks as part of a business education course, the 65 students chose stocks.

"The idea of speculation caused a great deal of enthusiasm among the pupils," explains teacher John Anthony. "So much interest has developed they plan to buy share in other stock before long."

Each contributed about 30 cents to buy an $18.59 share in a chemical company.

O. Henry said that New York City was "an aviary overstocked with jays (a country bumpkin who is a chatterbox)."

Tranquilizer Pills' Profit Called Slight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The makers of Miltown traquilizer said today their profit is a little more than a penny a tablet.

Henry H. Hoyt, president of Carter Products, Inc., said in testimony for the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee that no reduction would be warranted in the present price of 10 cents a tablet.

The subcommittee is investigating prices charged for various drugs. It contends some of the wonder drugs are priced so high they cannot be bought by persons who need them. Current hearings are devoted to tranquilizer pills.

Miltown is a trade name for meprobamate, a drug for the relief of tension and anxiety. Hoyt said its discovery had helped lift Carter's sales from an annual level of about $550,000 in 1930 when he became president to 48 million dollars in the last fiscal year.

"Substantial profits made in the four years since the introduction of meprobamate have to be considered in relation to the 13 preceding years in which Carter struggled profitlessly to enter the prescription drug field," he said. "It is scarcely reasonable to criticize four years' profits resulting from 17 years' effort."

Tranquilizer Pills' Profit Called Slight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The makers of Miltown traquilizer said today their profit is a little more than a penny a tablet.

Henry H. Hoyt, president of Carter Products, Inc., said in testimony for the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee that no reduction would be warranted in the present price of 10 cents a tablet.

The subcommittee is investigating prices charged for various drugs. It contends some of the wonder drugs are priced so high they cannot be bought by persons who need them. Current hearings are devoted to tranquilizer pills.

Miltown is a trade name for meprobamate, a drug for the relief of tension and anxiety. Hoyt said its discovery had helped lift Carter's sales from an annual level of about $550,000 in 1930 when he became president to 48 million dollars in the last fiscal year.

"Substantial profits made in the four years since the introduction of meprobamate have to be considered in relation to the 13 preceding years in which Carter struggled profitlessly to enter the prescription drug field," he said. "It is scarcely reasonable to criticize four years' profits resulting from 17 years' effort."

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Praise Helps Child Do Better Work

Bringing up Family Tues. Jan. 26

When a person writes, his speed, legibility and pressure on the pen point are not related to intelligence. Slow and fast writers use the heaviest pressure, average speed writers use the lightest. Generally pen pressure increases as the writer moves to the end of a sentence. Girls write more legibly than boys. Handwriting often deteriorates between the sixth and tenth grades, but later may improve on recognition of the need for legible writing. So the Handwriting Foundation reports, from a careful and elaborate study made by Professors John Guy Fowlkes and Virgil E. Herrick of the University of Wisconsin.

By Garry Meyers

THE FOUNDATION reports that there is now greater interest in handwriting than at any time during the last 20 years.

If your child writes a messy, illegible hand, you may not observe this fact until you see him doing written homework beyond the third or fourth grade, or until he brings home papers from school.

Many parents are little concerned about a child's poor penmanship until their attention is called to it by the teacher. She's most likely to report this matter when she finds it difficult to read his written work.

Just to scold or shame your child for his untidy handwriting will not help him improve it; it may only discourage him. Already he's ashamed of it and may suppose he never can do better. He certainly can't feel proud of any page he has written.

WHEN HE does written work at home, whether verbal or number work, encourage him to do it slowly and carefully. Be generous with praise for his improvement. You might have him keep an improvement book. (It could be an old magazine.) Have him enter between its leaves, once or twice a week, a sample of the school papers he gets back; date each entry.

At intervals of a few weeks, observe the entries with him, hoping to see gradual improvement.

Have him practice slowly and carefully, about 10 times an evening, writing a few lines under a neat, legible line of copy you provide; have the model on a slip of cardboard or heavy paper. As he writes a line under it, have him blot this line and slide the model down. Thus the model that he imitates will be directly above the line on which he writes.

My bulletin, "Your Child and His Handwriting," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Praise Helps Child Do Better Work

Bringing up Family Tues. Jan. 26

When a person writes, his speed, legibility and pressure on the pen point are not related to intelligence. Slow and fast writers use the heaviest pressure, average speed writers use the lightest. Generally pen pressure increases as the writer moves to the end of a sentence. Girls write more legibly than boys. Handwriting often deteriorates between the sixth and tenth grades, but later may improve on recognition of the need for legible writing. So the Handwriting Foundation reports, from a careful and elaborate study made by Professors John Guy Fowlkes and Virgil E. Herrick of the University of Wisconsin.

THE FOUNDATION reports that there is now greater interest in handwriting than at any time during the last 20 years.

If your child writes a messy, illegible hand, you may not observe this fact until you see him doing written homework beyond the third or fourth grade, or until he brings home papers from school.

Many parents are little concerned about a child's poor penmanship until their attention is called to it by the teacher. She's most likely to report this matter when she finds it difficult to read his written work.

Just to scold or shame your child for his untidy handwriting will not help him improve it; it may only discourage him. Already he's ashamed of it and may suppose he never can do better. He certainly can't feel proud of any page he has written.

WHEN HE does written work at home, whether verbal or number work, encourage him to do it slowly and carefully. Be generous with praise for his improvement. You might have him keep an improvement book. (It could be an old magazine.) Have him enter between its leaves, once or twice a week, a sample of the school papers he gets back; date each entry.

At intervals of a few weeks, observe the entries with him, hoping to see gradual improvement.

Have him practice slowly and carefully, about 10 times an evening, writing a few lines under a neat, legible line of copy you provide; have the model on a slip of cardboard or heavy paper. As he writes a line under it, have him blot this line and slide the model down. Thus the model that he imitates will be directly above the line on which he writes.

My bulletin, "Your Child and His Handwriting," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday our 10-year-old Lisa came from school with a nosebleed. She got into an argument with a girl on the way home. The girl hit her.

My husband said, "I hope you hit the big lummox back good and hard." Lisa said she didn't want to get into a brawl on the street so she ran ahead and came home.

My husband lectured her sternly and called her a "fraidy cat." I said I was proud of Lisa for not wanting to get into a fist fight. He said I was wrong. Am I? — PASSIVE RESISTOR.

-:-

Dear P. R.: Your husband is wrong. A young lady does not engage in a fist fight in public —or in private. It reduces her to the roughneck level.

Double-Crossed Self

Dear Ann: I don't need advice. I need a swift kick in the trousers and I think you're just the one who can give it to me. Pour it on, Annie. I deserve it.

I'm a man 50 years of age. About six months ago I feared my life was getting dull. I decided an outside romance would pep me up so I had a fling with a married woman half my age. I thought I'd take my fun and ditch her when it was over.

I didn't count on the dumbbell's falling head over heels. Without consulting me, she asked her husband for a divorce. He said, "Nothing doing" but invited her to move out any time and go to work. He said he'd "keep the kids at all cost."

Then the dumb broad went to my wife and told her I wanted a divorce. My wife ordered her out of the house and said if I wanted a divorce I'd have to ask for it.

When I got home she wanted to know what it was all about. I confessed and promised I'd never look at another woman as long as I live.

I'm ashamed and heartsick. When I see this young woman at parties I wish I could evaporate into thin air. She follows me around shamelessly and I can't shake her.

My wife has never thrown this affair up to me and I love her for it. I'm sorry I've caused her grief and would do anything to relive the last year. Please print my letter for the benefit of other old bucks who think they can recapture youth by the same foolish route.—A.G.

-:-

DEAR A. G.: No point in my pouring it on. You're catching plenty of heat from within — which, in the final analysis, is roughest punishment of all.

U.S. In Safe Hands

Dear Ann: We at the United States Navy Recruiting Center at Los Angeles wish to thank you for your intelligent reply to that ignorant man who suggested all the bums, loafers and promiscuous men be rounded up and put into the armed services.

A great many people are unaware that volunteers must be morally, mentally and physically fit in order to qualify. No one with a juvenile or police record is accepted. A surprising number of applicants are turned down. Again our thanks for promoting a better understanding among your millions of readers.—U.S.N.R.C.

Dear Readers: I received many letters from U.S. Marine Corps centers, Army, Air Force and Coast Guard recruiters as well as men who have found a home in the armed services.

America can relax in the knowledge that we are protected by top quality men.

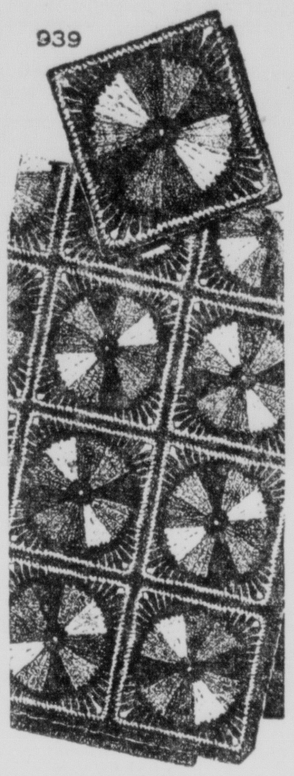

Confidentially

TO UNHAPPY MOTHER: If you couldn't do anything with her when she was 9, why are you surprised you can't handle her at 19? Accept her invitation to "mind your own business" and when the bills come in for all the foolishness tell her that she and her husband must handle them as best they can.

TO HEARTBROKEN LUCILLE: It's only hair for heaven's sake, not an arm or an eye — it'll grow out. In the meantime wear a hat with a snood when you go out socially.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday our 10-year-old Lisa came from school with a nosebleed. She got into an argument with a girl on the way home. The girl hit her.

My husband said, "I hope you hit the big lummox back good and hard." Lisa said she didn't want to get into a brawl on the street so she ran ahead and came home.

My husband lectured her sternly and called her a "fraidy cat." I said I was proud of Lisa for not wanting to get into a fist fight. He said I was wrong. Am I? — PASSIVE RESISTOR.

-:-

Dear P. R.: Your husband is wrong. A young lady does not engage in a fist fight in public —or in private. It reduces her to the roughneck level.

Double-Crossed Self

Dear Ann: I don't need advice. I need a swift kick in the trousers and I think you're just the one who can give it to me. Pour it on, Annie. I deserve it.

I'm a man 50 years of age. About six months ago I feared my life was getting dull. I decided an outside romance would pep me up so I had a fling with a married woman half my age. I thought I'd take my fun and ditch her when it was over.

I didn't count on the dumbbell's falling head over heels. Without consulting me, she asked her husband for a divorce. He said, "Nothing doing" but invited her to move out any time and go to work. He said he'd "keep the kids at all cost."

Then the dumb broad went to my wife and told her I wanted a divorce. My wife ordered her out of the house and said if I wanted a divorce I'd have to ask for it.

When I got home she wanted to know what it was all about. I confessed and promised I'd never look at another woman as long as I live.

I'm ashamed and heartsick. When I see this young woman at parties I wish I could evaporate into thin air. She follows me around shamelessly and I can't shake her.

My wife has never thrown this affair up to me and I love her for it. I'm sorry I've caused her grief and would do anything to relive the last year. Please print my letter for the benefit of other old bucks who think they can recapture youth by the same foolish route.—A.G.

-:-

DEAR A. G.: No point in my pouring it on. You're catching plenty of heat from within — which, in the final analysis, is roughest punishment of all.

U.S. In Safe Hands

Dear Ann: We at the United States Navy Recruiting Center at Los Angeles wish to thank you for your intelligent reply to that ignorant man who suggested all the bums, loafers and promiscuous men be rounded up and put into the armed services.

A great many people are unaware that volunteers must be morally, mentally and physically fit in order to qualify. No one with a juvenile or police record is accepted. A surprising number of applicants are turned down. Again our thanks for promoting a better understanding among your millions of readers.—U.S.N.R.C.

Dear Readers: I received many letters from U.S. Marine Corps centers, Army, Air Force and Coast Guard recruiters as well as men who have found a home in the armed services.

America can relax in the knowledge that we are protected by top quality men.

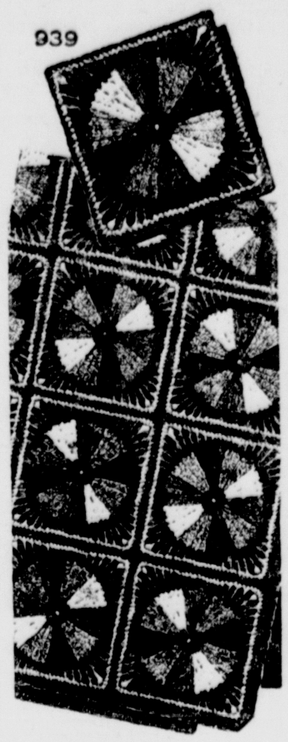

Confidentially

TO UNHAPPY MOTHER: If you couldn't do anything with her when she was 9, why are you surprised you can't handle her at 19? Accept her invitation to "mind your own business" and when the bills come in for all the foolishness tell her that she and her husband must handle them as best they can.

TO HEARTBROKEN LUCILLE: It's only hair for heaven's sake, not an arm or an eye — it'll grow out. In the meantime wear a hat with a snood when you go out socially.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Waring Still Draws, But Not On TV

"Two network presidents told me I'm washed up," said veteran music man Fred Waring, probably the most affluent "has been" out of TV. "I'm not upset about being rejected by TV. Nor am I hurt. I'm astounded."

Marie Torre

No more astounded, perhaps, than other television pioneers C. Robert Montgomery among them), who've found that broadcasting opportunities are not commensurate with theatrical know-how. The greater the experience, the lesser the professional demand—a condition peculiar only to television, it would seem.

IN ANY OTHER business or profession, Waring's 43-year record would earn him respect and repute. In television, Waring's longevity earned him an extended vacation.

But rusticating is not for him. Currently touring the country on a six-month jaunt with the Pennsylvanians, Waring is re-acquainting himself with the people and trying to help satisfy America's appetite for good music.

One persistent question follows him everywhere: "Why aren't you on TV? In Waring's case, this is akin to a mother's asking her marriage-minded daughter why she doesn't marry.

"I make a joke of my answer," said Waring. "I usually tell them that both Jackie Gleason and I are off TV, that 'they don't want him either.'

"But seriously, I'm not even looking for a place in TV any more. I got tired of being rejected. When I asked why, they told me I was washed-up, passe, as far as TV was concerned. If I believed it, I'd surely find it difficult to understand how we could pull the audience we're getting on tour—as many as 20,000 at one time."

-:-

WARING WAS a fixture on television back in the '40s and early '50s, when TV was in swaddling clothes. Even hard-to-please critics, welcomed his tuneful programs.

"We devote a lot of time to eliminating a lack of sincerity," was Waring's paradoxical explanation for their success.

"We're not less sincere today than we were in 1948," he said on behalf of his aggregation. "If anything, we're more sincere. In other words, we haven't changed. But the people making the decision in TV have changed.

"During my last days in television, I found it difficult to hold my temper when unaccomplished people, young men fresh out of school, started telling me how to do things.

"This I found distasteful. I couldn't tolerate it. Some of the men I told off are now top guns at the networks — and they still haven't learned a thing."

Waring paused long enough to permit his blood pressure to subside, then added:

"I love show business. I believe in it enough to feel that it's got to come back to television one day. When it does, I hope there'll be somebody around who'll say, 'Let's get somebody with the experience of Fred Waring.'"

NBC HAS ACTED on the request by the "Startime" management that the show be moved from the combined opposition of Garry Moore and Red Skelton on Tuesday nights. Plans call for "Startime" to begin at 8:30 instead of 9:30 Tuesday nights, beginning next week, with "Arthur Murray Party" moving to the 9:30 Tuesday slot. . . .

Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows find working together so much to their pleasure they've agreed to begin work next month on a movie called "Confidential Report on Collins College." . . .

The shaky sponsor status of "Person to Person" augurs an uncertain future for the show. . . .

Pat Boone, ABC's all-American boy, is the subject of network discussions that may result in an expanded (to one hour) Saturday night version of the Boon show now seen Thursday nights. Network reasoning: If Perry Como's ratings were high on Saturday nights and dropped when he moved to midweek, the process ought to work in reverse for Boone. . . .

"Payola" will be in the headlines again the week of Feb. 8 when Rep. Oren Harris, who is hiring "six more investigators," will launch public hearings on "all phases" of payola. Harris expects the hearings to last only one week. But he may be a natural optimist. Last fall, before the TV quiz show hearings opened, Harris predicted they would be over in four days. The job took almost six weeks.

Insurance Office Gets New Location

The Interocean Insurance Co. in the Holloway Building, 207½ E. 5th St.—made a district office for eastern Ohio earlier this month—has leased the second floor of the Horsley Studios Building on Broadway for expanded operations.

Interocean is expected to transfer its offices by March 1 into the rooms formerly used by the Prudential Insurance Co., according to George Bright, realtor, who arranged the leasing.

James P. Condon of Charleston is the new manager of the firm here, which has been made a district office from the former detached branch of the Pittsburgh office.

Condon's chief assistants are Floyd Richards of Wellsville and Joseph Carissini of Wellsburg. Condon, with the company for 14 years, is presently living with his family near New Waterford.

There are 15 agents working out of the city office and the staff is to be enlarged. The 56-year-old firm handles life, accident, sickness, hospitalization, medical and surgery insurance.

Remodeling of the new offices is to get underway immediately in preparation for the transfer, Bright said.

Weil To Seek Presidency Of Big Rail Union

CLEVELAND (AP)—At a dinner attended by nearly half of the 1,100 delegates at the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen convention here, William J. Weil, 51, announced Monday night he will seek the presidency of the 200,000-member union.

Weil, general secretary-treasurer of the BRT since 1954, has been sharply critical of W. P. Kennedy, 67, who has headed the brotherhood—largest of the railroad operating unions—since 1949.

Later in the BRT's convention, now starting its fourth week, delegates will elect officers. No date has been set for the voting, but it was considered unlikely to occur before late next week.

The convention is closed to newsmen, but on reports of several test issue votes delegates have indicated an almost even division of strength between Weil and Kennedy forces.

In his talk Monday night Weil asserted there has been "a deplorable record of waste, incompetence, do-nothingness and ultra-conservatism in the BRT." He called for a younger, more aggressive leadership to restore railroad workers to the position they once held as the "aristocracy of labor."

Weil outlined an ambitious program he said he would promote if elected BRT president. It includes:

A militant counter - campaign against railroad charges of featherbedding.

Tougher negotiations policy aimed at a shorter work week, double time for holidays, a company paid health and welfare program and vacations of up to five weeks a year, and early retirement at age 60.

An organizing effort to bring thousands of bus operators now represented by other unions into the BRT.

Elimination of a $4 to $5 daily wage differential between Canadian and American railroad workers.

A curb on railroad mergers and on Interstate Commerce Commission authority to eliminate passenger service.

Consultation with consulting engineers on automation with the purpose of assuring railroad workers a full share of any benefits deriving from increased productivity that automation might bring.

160 Attend City Meeting

Panel Discussions Mark Midwinter Youth Meeting

Panel discussions highlighted the second session of the Midwinter Youth Institute of the Steubenville District Methodist Church Saturday morning at the First Church. Approximately 160 attended.

The first session Friday featured Dr. Harold Ewing, pastor of the Union Ave. Church at Alliance, as speaker.

The first panel discussion was on marriage. Sally Snowball of Salem was moderator.

College was the second topic, with John Hayes, Conference MYF president and a student at Mt. Union College at Alliance, in charge and De Smith as moderator.

The Rev. James Gardner, pastor of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church, participated in the discussion on Christian vocations and Christian citizenship. Others who took part included Martha Jane Frary, Christian education director at Salem; Tommie Caskey, parish worker at Calvary Methodist Church at Steubenville; Merrill Hall, athletic director and teacher at East Liverpool High School; Don Eckert of East Liverpool; Ira Findley of Wellsville, and Jean Converse of Leetonia. Bob Stewart of East Liverpool was moderator.

The final discussion was on church music, with Linda Ketchum of Wintersville as moderator.

Mrs. William Snowball of Salem led group singing. Selections also were presented by the Calvary MYF Choir of Steubenville.

The discussions were followed with Holy Communion service, with Dr. D. Finley Wood in charge. Dr. Ewing preached on "Keeping Christ Above All."

Lunch was served at 12:30 p. m. and the session was dismissed at 1.

The Rev. Carl Beighley, pastor of the Calvary Church, is district youth director. The district includes Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson and Harrison Counties.

The Senior High Summer Institute will be held July 11 at Camp Aldersgate, near Carrollton.

Beaver County Lists Decline In Youthful Crimes For 1959

BEAVER — A total of 529 juvenile cases was processed in 1959, a decline of 8.2 per cent from 1958, it was shown today in the annual report of William L. Ambrose, Beaver County chief of probation and parole.

The offenders included 439 boys and 90 girls, Ambrose reported. The "official cases" — those referred to the courts — totaled 181. The "unofficial cases" — those processed by Ambrose — totaled 348.

Of the 181 offenders docketed, 74 had been listed previously, Ambrose said. Of the 529 defendants, 352 were given detention home care.

Fifty youngsters were institutionalized in 1959, about on a par with the 53 in 1959 and the 51 in 1958, Ambrose reported. Police departments referred 402 of the cases to Ambrose, while 16 were listed from schools and 111 were reported from miscellaneous sources.

A breakdown of cases showed 82 charged with malicious mischief, compared with 67 in 1958. Other offenses were: violation of the motor vehicle code, 67; burglary, 50; dependent and neglected children, 47; disorderly conduct, 43; auto theft, 29; larceny, 33.

Sex offenses, 26; runaways, 42; assault and battery, 25; ungovernable, 22; shop-lifting, 22; incorrigible, 10; trespassing, 5; parole violation, 4; false pretense, 3; tampering with the mail, 2, and arson, possession of firearms and false fire alarms, one each.

The department collected $833 in costs; $3,475 from parents for maintenance of institutionalized children; $422 in fines for the county and $590 in fines for the state. Most of the fines were for motor vehicle violations.

The department collected $15,498 in restitution for damages, an increase of more than $9,000 from the total collected in 1958. The overall amount handled was $20,919.65.

Jobless Pay Backfires For The Second Time

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — In 1958 Richard Davis, 40, of Carlisle, Pa., was accused of accepting state unemployment compensation while regularly employed.

He was ordered to make restitution. He began repaying the money but soon fell behind.

His solution, an FBI agent testified Monday, was to again apply for unemployment compensation under false pretenses in order to obtain money to pay off the original debt.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frederick V. Follmer placed Davis on five years' probation and ordered him to repay the total $400 which covers both offenses.

Dynamite Bomb Rips Part Of Warren Club

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A dynamite bomb tossed into the vestibule of the C-F-U Club Monday night broke windows and damaged two automobiles parked nearby. None of the 10 patrons in the private club at the time was injured.

Damage was estimated at several thousand dollars by club manager Jim Malarkey, who told investigators he knew of no reason for the attack. The bomb was made of two or three sticks of dynamite. The club operates under a charter granted to the Croatian Fraternal Union.

'Legal' Bingo Advocated In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A bill authorizing county referenda to legalize bingo was the first piece of legislation introduced in the Senate in the 1960 session.

The proposal was not given a number nor assigned to a committee.

A constitutional amendment authorizing the sessions in even-numbered years, approved by the voters last fall, limited the new sessions to revenue and appropriation bills.

A proposed committee to screen bills entered in the new session has not yet been set up.

There also was a question if the Senate could consider the measure since the constitution states that all revenue-raising proposals must originate in the House.

Sen. Charles R. Weiner, Democratic floor leader, said the proposal was designed to solve a problem that has been existing in the commonwealth for some time.

Although bingo presently is illegal, he said, it is one of the best ways charitable institutions have of raising money.

"I doubt if there is a single area or fire station in the state today that hasn't run a bingo game at some time or another," Weiner said.

The bill proposes a 5 per cent tax on admissions, which are limited to $1 per card, with the revenue being split by the state and the municipality.

Weiner said the proposal also would be introduced in the House.

The measure would set up a three-member commission, serving three-year terms without salary, to administer bingo licensing and operation.

The list of societies or associations eligible under the act includes bona fide organizations of veterans, hospitals, civic and service clubs, volunteer fire companies, charitable, educational and fraternal groups and churches and religious organizations.

Injuries Suffered By 2 Youngsters

Two youngsters hurt in falls were treated at City Hospital Monday and two other area residents were injured in separate mishaps.

James Aikens, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Aikens, 258 Center St., was treated last night for a cut of the chin received in a fall on a toy.

Donald Heath, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Heath of Newell, was treated at 7:30 p. m. for a laceration of the chin suffered on cement.

Janice Tozana, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Tozana of Midalnd Heights, received a possible fracture of the right ankle in a fall while playing basketball at Midland High School.

Lysbeth Hamill, 17 Market St., suffered a fracture of the left collarbone when she fell in the kitchen at home last night.

Company Rejects Bill For Cleaning Of Sewer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The National Supply Co. has declined to accept responsibility for a $68,000 cleaning bill at its plant in Etna.

In a letter to Etna Borough Council Monday, the company rejected a bill sent by borough officials last December for sewer cleaning.

The borough contends that steel shavings from the Etna plant have been seeping into a mile-long sanitary sewer trunk line between the plant and the Allegheny River.

H. R. Beachler, works manager, told the borough that even if the firm had been responsible for the sewer clogging it would not be obligated to pay for the cleaning.

Hammondsville PTA Will Convene Feb. 15

HAMMONDSVILLE — The Parent-Teacher Association will meet Feb. 15 at 8 p. m. in the elementary school to discuss with a representative of the Celli Music Center, Inc., of East Liverpool purchase of musical instruments.

Mrs. William Burton, president, will preside.

Members are rehearsing for a minstrel show to be held March 5 in the school.

D'Alesio Heads Post-Prom Unit At Midland High

Dives Waited In Plane Quiz

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Navy divers plan to drop into the Gulf of Mexico Wednesday to look at an object officials hope is the remains of an airliner that crashed Nov. 16 and killed 42 persons.

Sounding apparatus located the object in several hundred feet of water off the Louisiana coast. But experts said it could be the hulk of an old ship and not the wreckage of the National Airlines DC7B. If it proves to be the plane, investigators will try to raise it. They want to know whether a bomb blew up the plane before it plunged into the Gulf.

The USS Penguin, a 60-foot submarine vessel, and another Navy vessel, the Vigor, fitted with sonar equipment were headed for the presumed crash site.

The searchers also will be looking for bodies. Only 13 have been recovered.

Robert Vernon Spears of Dallas, Tex., was listed as a heavily insured passenger on the plane. But the 65-year-old naturopath turned up alive last week in Phoenix, Ariz. The FBI said Spears took out $100,000 flight insurance in his own name and had blasting equipment in his luggage when he was arrested.

Spears' wife has said her husband told her his place on the plane was taken by an old friend, William Allen Taylor, 60, of Tampa, Fla.

Spears was arrested for driving Taylor's car from Tampa to Phoenix. He is being held on a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen car.

Waring Still Draws, But Not On TV

"Two network presidents told me I'm washed up," said veteran music man Fred Waring, probably the most affluent "has been" out of TV. "I'm not upset about being rejected by TV. Nor am I hurt. I'm astounded."

Marie Torre

No more astounded, perhaps, than other television pioneers C. Robert Montgomery among them), who've found that broadcasting opportunities are not commensurate with theatrical know-how. The greater the experience, the lesser the professional demand—a condition peculiar only to television, it would seem.

IN ANY OTHER business or profession, Waring's 43-year record would earn him respect and repute. In television, Waring's longevity earned him an extended vacation.

But rusticating is not for him. Currently touring the country on a six-month jaunt with the Pennsylvanians, Waring is re-acquainting himself with the people and trying to help satisfy America's appetite for good music.

One persistent question follows him everywhere: "Why aren't you on TV? In Waring's case, this is akin to a mother's asking her marriage-minded daughter why she doesn't marry.

"I make a joke of my answer," said Waring. "I usually tell them that both Jackie Gleason and I are off TV, that 'they don't want him either.'

"But seriously, I'm not even looking for a place in TV any more. I got tired of being rejected. When I asked why, they told me I was washed-up, passe, as far as TV was concerned. If I believed it, I'd surely find it difficult to understand how we could pull the audience we're getting on tour—as many as 20,000 at one time."

-:-

WARING WAS a fixture on television back in the '40s and early '50s, when TV was in swaddling clothes. Even hard-to-please critics, welcomed his tuneful programs.

"We devote a lot of time to eliminating a lack of sincerity," was Waring's paradoxical explanation for their success.

"We're not less sincere today than we were in 1948," he said on behalf of his aggregation. "If anything, we're more sincere. In other words, we haven't changed. But the people making the decision in TV have changed.

"During my last days in television, I found it difficult to hold my temper when unaccomplished people, young men fresh out of school, started telling me how to do things.

"This I found distasteful. I couldn't tolerate it. Some of the men I told off are now top guns at the networks — and they still haven't learned a thing."

Waring paused long enough to permit his blood pressure to subside, then added:

"I love show business, I believe in show business. I believe in it enough to feel that it's got to come back to television one day. When it does, I hope there'll be somebody around who'll say, 'Let's get somebody with the experience of Fred Waring.'"

NBC HAS ACTED on the request by the "Startime" management that the show be moved from the combined opposition of Garry Moore and Red Skelton on Tuesday nights. Plans call for "Startime" to begin at 8:30 instead of 9:30 Tuesday nights, beginning next week, with "Arthur Murray Party" moving to the 9:30 Tuesday slot. . . .

Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows find working together so much to their pleasure they've agreed to begin work next month on a movie called "Confidential Report on Collins College." . . .

The shaky sponsor status of "Person to Person" augurs an uncertain future for the show. . . .

Pat Boone, ABC's all-American boy, is the subject of network discussions that may result in an expanded (to one hour) Saturday night version of the Boon show now seen Thursday nights. Network reasoning: If Perry Como's ratings were high on Saturday nights and dropped when he moved to midweek, the process ought to work in reverse for Boone. . . .

"Payola" will be in the headlines again the week of Feb. 8 when Rep. Oren Harris, who is hiring "six more investigators," will launch public hearings on "all phases" of payola. Harris expects the hearings to last only one week. But he may be a natural optimist. Last fall, before the TV quiz show hearings opened, Harris predicted they would be over in four days. The job took almost six weeks.

Insurance Office Gets New Location

The Interocean Insurance Co. in the Holloway Building, 207½ E. 5th St.—made a district office for eastern Ohio earlier this month—has leased the second floor of the Horsley Studios Building on Broadway for expanded operations.

Interocean is expected to transfer its offices by March 1 into the rooms formerly used by the Prudential Insurance Co., according to George Bright, realtor, who arranged the leasing.

James P. Condon of Charleston is the new manager of the firm here, which has been made a district office from the former detached branch of the Pittsburgh office.

Condon's chief assistants are Floyd Richards of Wellsville and Joseph Carissini of Wellsburg. Condon, with the company for 14 years, is presently living with his family near New Waterford.

There are 15 agents working out of the city office and the staff is to be enlarged. The 56-year-old firm handles life, accident, sickness, hospitalization, medical and surgery insurance.

Remodeling of the new offices is to get underway immediately in preparation for the transfer, Bright said.

Weil To Seek Presidency Of Big Rail Union

CLEVELAND (AP)—At a dinner attended by nearly half of the 1,100 delegates at the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen convention here, William J. Weil, 51, announced Monday night he will seek the presidency of the 200,000-member union.

Weil, general secretary-treasurer of the BRT since 1954, has been sharply critical of W. P. Kennedy, 67, who has headed the brotherhood—largest of the railroad operating unions—since 1949.

Later in the BRT's convention, now starting its fourth week, delegates will elect officers. No date has been set for the voting, but it was considered unlikely to occur before late next week.

The convention is closed to newsmen, but on reports of several test issue votes delegates have indicated an almost even division of strength between Weil and Kennedy forces.

In his talk Monday night Weil asserted there has been "a deplorable record of waste, incompetence, do-nothingness and ultra-conservatism in the BRT." He called for a younger, more aggressive leadership to restore railroad workers to the position they once held as the "aristocracy of labor."

Weil outlined an ambitious program he said he would promote if elected BRT president. It includes:

A militant counter - campaign against railroad charges of featherbedding.

Tougher negotiations policy aimed at a shorter work week, double time for holidays, a company paid health and welfare program and vacations of up to five weeks a year, and early retirement at age 60.

An organizing effort to bring thousands of bus operators now represented by other unions into the BRT.

Elimination of a $4 to $5 daily wage differential between Canadian and American railroad workers.

A curb on railroad mergers and on Interstate Commerce Commission authority to eliminate passenger service.

Consultation with consulting engineers on automation with the purpose of assuring railroad workers a full share of any benefits deriving from increased productivity that automation might bring.

Beaver County Lists Decline In Youthful Crimes For 1959

BEAVER — A total of 529 juvenile cases was processed in 1959, a decline of 8.2 per cent from 1958, it was shown today in the annual report of William L. Ambrose, Beaver County chief of probation and parole.

The offenders included 439 boys and 90 girls, Ambrose reported. The "official cases" — those referred to the courts — totaled 181. The "unofficial cases" — those processed by Ambrose — totaled 348.

Of the 181 offenders docketed, 74 had been listed previously, Ambrose said. Of the 529 defendants, 352 were given detention home care.

Fifty youngsters were institutionalized in 1959, about on a par with the 53 in 1959 and the 51 in 1958, Ambrose reported. Police departments referred 402 of the cases to Ambrose, while 16 were listed from schools and 111 were reported from miscellaneous sources.

A breakdown of cases showed 82 charged with malicious mischief, compared with 67 in 1958. Other offenses were: violation of the motor vehicle code, 67; burglary, 50; dependent and neglected children, 47; disorderly conduct, 43; auto theft, 29; larceny, 33.

Sex offenses, 26; runaways, 42; assault and battery, 25; ungovernable, 22; shop-lifting, 22; incorrigible, 10; trespassing, 5; parole violation, 4; false pretense, 3; tampering with the mail, 2, and arson, possession of firearms and false fire alarms, one each.

The department collected $833 in costs; $3,475 from parents for maintenance of institutionalized children; $422 in fines for the county and $590 in fines for the state. Most of the fines were for motor vehicle violations.

The department collected $15,498 in restitution for damages, an increase of more than $9,000 from the total collected in 1958. The overall amount handled was $20,919.65.

Jobless Pay Backfires For The Second Time

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — In 1958 Richard Davis, 40, of Carlisle, Pa., was accused of accepting state unemployment compensation while regularly employed.

He was ordered to make restitution. He began repaying the money but soon fell behind.

His solution, an FBI agent testified Monday, was to again apply for unemployment compensation under false pretenses in order to obtain money to pay off the original debt.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frederick V. Follmer placed Davis on five years' probation and ordered him to repay the total $400 which covers both offenses.

Dynamite Bomb Rips Part Of Warren Club

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A dynamite bomb tossed into the vestibule of the C-F-U Club Monday night broke windows and damaged two automobiles parked nearby. None of the 10 patrons in the private club at the time was injured.

Damage was estimated at several thousand dollars by club manager Jim Malarkey, who told investigators he knew of no reason for the attack. The bomb was made of two or three sticks of dynamite. The club operates under a charter granted to the Croatian Fraternal Union.

'Legal' Bingo Advocated In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A bill authorizing county referenda to legalize bingo was the first piece of legislation introduced in the Senate in the 1960 session.

The proposal was not given a number nor assigned to a committee.

A constitutional amendment authorizing the sessions in even-numbered years, approved by the voters last fall, limited the new sessions to revenue and appropriation bills.

A proposed committee to screen bills entered in the new session has not yet been set up.

There also was a question if the Senate could consider the measure since the constitution states that all revenue-raising proposals must originate in the House.

Sen. Charles R. Weiner, Democratic floor leader, said the proposal was designed to solve a problem that has been existing in the commonwealth for some time.

Although bingo presently is illegal, he said, it is one of the best ways charitable institutions have of raising money.

"I doubt if there is a single area or fire station in the state today that hasn't run a bingo game at some time or another," Weiner said.

The bill proposes a 5 per cent tax on admissions, which are limited to $1 per card, with the revenue being split by the state and the municipality.

Weiner said the proposal also would be introduced in the House.

The measure would set up a three-member commission, serving three-year terms without salary, to administer bingo licensing and operation.

The list of societies or associations eligible under the act includes bona fide organizations of veterans, hospitals, civic and service clubs, volunteer fire companies, charitable, educational and fraternal groups and churches and religious organizations.

Injuries Suffered By 2 Youngsters

Two youngsters hurt in falls were treated at City Hospital Monday and two other area residents were injured in separate mishaps.

James Aikens, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Aikens, 258 Center St., was treated last night for a cut of the chin received in a fall on a toy.

Donald Heath, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Heath of Newell, was treated at 7:30 p. m. for a laceration of the chin suffered on cement.

Janice Tozana, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Tozana of Midalnd Heights, received a possible fracture of the right ankle in a fall while playing basketball at Midland High School.

Lysbeth Hamill, 17 Market St., suffered a fracture of the left collarbone when she fell in the kitchen at home last night.

Company Rejects Bill For Cleaning Of Sewer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The National Supply Co. has declined to accept responsibility for a $68,000 cleaning bill at its plant in Etna.

In a letter to Etna Borough Council Monday, the company rejected a bill sent by borough officials last December for sewer cleaning.

The borough contends that steel shavings from the Etna plant have been seeping into a mile-long sanitary sewer trunk line between the plant and the Allegheny River.

H. R. Beachler, works manager, told the borough that even if the firm had been responsible for the sewer clogging it would not be obligated to pay for the cleaning.

D'Alesio Heads Post-Prom Unit At Midland High

Joe D'Alesio, councilman and president of United Steelworkers Local 1212 of the Crucible Steel Co., was elected chairman of the Midland Post-Prom Committee at a reorganization meeting Monday evening in the Union Hall.

He succeeds Raymond Stowitzky, Lincoln High school guidance director. Others elected were Mrs. Edward Cronin, vice chairman; Miss Jessie Mae Dawson, secretary, and Mrs. John Mueller, treasurer.

Mrs. Joseph Benek and Stowitzky were both re-elected directors for three-year terms. Other directors include Mrs. Charles Petties, Dr. Zanvel Sigal, Mrs. Marge Evans, Mrs. Michael Disdore, Michael Hohan and Mrs. Grover Epley.

Stowitzky was appointed entertainment chairman. D'Alesio will appoint other chairman and committees later. Meetings will be held the second Monday of the month. Mrs. John W. Nunn was secretary the past year.

Several representatives of about 23 contributing organizations attended. The committee provides entertainment after the senior dance in the fall and the Junior-Senior Prom in the spring.

Dives Waited In Plane Quiz

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Navy divers plan to drop into the Gulf of Mexico Wednesday to look at an object officials hope is the remains of an airliner that crashed Nov. 16 and killed 42 persons.

Sounding apparatus located the object in several hundred feet of water off the Louisiana coast. But experts said it could be the hulk of an old ship and not the wreckage of the National Airlines DC7B. If it proves to be the plane, investigators will try to raise it. They want to know whether a bomb blew up the plane before it plunged into the Gulf.

The USS Penguin, a 60-foot submarine vessel, and another Navy vessel, the Vigor, fitted with sonar equipment were headed for the presumed crash site.

The searchers also will be looking for bodies. Only 13 have been recovered.

Robert Vernon Spears of Dallas, Tex., was listed as a heavily insured passenger on the plane. But the 65-year-old naturopath turned up alive last week in Phoenix, Ariz. The FBI said Spears took out $100,000 flight insurance in his own name and had blasting equipment in his luggage when he was arrested.

Spears' wife has said her husband told her his place on the plane was taken by an old friend, William Allen Taylor, 60, of Tampa, Fla.

Spears was arrested for driving Taylor's car from Tampa to Phoenix. He is being held on a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen car.

Shifted Game With Warren Netted $9,322

East Liverpool High School began figuring its athletic finances in the "black" once again after a profit of $11,713.92 was realized from football during the 1959 season.

The financial report for football was approved Monday night at a meeting of the high school athletic board.

The profit gave ELHS a balance of $5,894.78 as of Jan. 1.

Total receipts for 1959 were $28,896.14, while expenditures hit $17,232.22. Total gate receipts were $25,294.50. compared with $16,078.51 in 1958.

In 1958 the total profit was only $4,375.51.

Receipts from the Warren game Oct. 16 were responsible for last year's big gain.

The game, originally scheduled for Patterson Field, was shifted to Warren at the request of Warren officials. East Liverpool High School made a net profit of $9,322.85 on the contest as a result.

Gate receipts in 1959 were second only to the 1949 season when the total hit almost $31,000.

Expenditures for 1959 included: Cleaning and laundry, $500.62, reconditioning $1,557.50, equipment $4,122.61, employes $334.88, meals $542.76, medical $119.99, officials $591.50, field $1,315.59, scouting $259.63, transportation $568.08, petty cash $25, utilities $774.02, movies $1,142.12, taxes $427.21.

Letters $239.89, miscellaneous $24.04, tickets $300.98, payroll games $520, supplies $95.90, clinics $315.90, guarantees $1,950, insurance $1,289, paint office $90, ditto machine $125, refund on season tickets $10 and yearbook $10.

Receipts for 1959 showed: guarantees received $2,050, season tickets $2,411, insurance $258, concession stands $344.34, movies donated by Nonpareil Club $650, refund cleaning stadium $22, meals donated by Nonpareil Club $123.50, junior high games $203.80 and five home games $22,883.50.

The 1960 football schedule was completed with the exception of one game. Toronto has requested to be dropped, but has a year left on its contract with East Liverpool.

The board said that if another team can be scheduled for the Nov. 12 date, Toronto will be dropped from the schedule.

East Liverpool will play its first six games at home — Youngstown South Sept. 16, Girard Sept. 23, New Philadelphia Sept. 30, Bellaire St. John's Oct. 7, Youngstown Rayen Oct. 14 and Struthers Oct. 21.

One other home game is with Alliance on Nov. 19.

Away games will be with Steubenville Central Oct. 29, Salem Nov. 5 and Toronto Nov. 12, unless a change is made.

Merrill Hall, athletic director, reported on a Junior High basketball tournament set for Feb. 17-18 and Feb. 24 and 27.

Eight teams will compete in the event to be held at either East Junior High or Westgate, with the final session at Memorial Auditorium.

A tentative list of teams that may compete in the tourney includes East Junior High and Westgate of East Liverpool, Steubenville Central, Toronto, Beaver Local, Wellsville, Newell and Chester.

The price of admission to the games was set at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Second-Half Play To Begin In City Loop Wednesday

Second-half play will get under way in the City Basketball League Wednesday night at East Junior High School.

Alex's wrapped up the first-half championship last week by defeating Freed's. The victory was Alex's fifth straight in loop action.

Wednesday, Freed's will meet the Wellsville Merchants in the top game of the evening beginning at 6:30.

The second contest at 7:30 finds the Chester Merchants facing Midland CIO, a new entry replacing Millirons.

The finale, at 8:30, will see George Bright Real Estate meeting Alex's Carry-Out.

Jensen To Retire From Baseball

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox announced today that outfielder Jackie Jensen has decided to retire from baseball.

A Red Sox spokesman said Jensen gave the word to General Manager Bucky Harris Monday.

Jensen, the American League's most valuable player in 1958, did not amplify his decision, the spokesman said. However, before the close of last season Jensen said he was considering quitting and would think it over during the winter.

"He was sent a very fine contract but that made no difference apparently," said the Sox spokesman. The Red Sox do not disclose contract figures.

MAYOR SIGNS PROCLAMATION. A "Beat Salem Week" was launched Monday in Wellsville with the official signing of a proclamation by Mayor William Shoub for citizens to back the Tigers, who swing against once-beaten Salem Friday night at Beacom Memorial Gym. The campaign is being co-sponsored by the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Omni Orange and Black Activity Club. Pictured at the signing yesterday are, left to right, Charles Stone, president of the Activity Club, Principal William Menough, Mayor Shoub and Ralph Fusco, representing the Jaycees. The game has been a sellout for several days. Wellsville is 8-2 for the season and Salem 9-1.

Stanton Local 13th In Class 'A'

Salem Retains 3rd Place, Wellsville 14th In Poll

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only one newcomer appeared today in the Class AA and Class A "Top Tens" in the weekly Associated Press high school basketball poll.

And that came in the tenth spot of the Class A ratings where defending state champion Edgerton eased in, ousting Stanton Local from among the elite.

The other big shift also came in the smaller school list where Salem Local of Urbana, winner of 40 of its last 41 and boasting a 13-game victory streak, wrested the top spot from Van Del of Van Wert County by five poll points.

The Salem Local squad, coached by William Hupp, has only a loss to Lynwood-Jackson in last March's state tourney semifinals marring its two-year record.

The Class A contingent is filled with unbeaten teams except for eighth-place New Bremen which saw its 14-game winning streak halted Saturday night by Coldwater 56-50.

Only three of the Top Ten in Class AA are still clean. Dayton Roosevelt, the runaway leader, has won 13 in a row, while fourth-place Lakewood and seventh-place Canton Timken have 11 straight.

Portsmouth's Trojans, fourth last week, skidded to ninth as they fell before both Springfield and Lima in weekend contests. Springfield is the only one of the others to succumb twice and the Wildcats tied Ashland for fifth.

From here and there: Gustavus of Trumbull County, which ended a 59-game losing streak by beating Bloomfield 52-45 two weeks ago, was back on the losing trail after dropping the return game to Bloomfield 93-68. It was Bloomfield's first win of the campaign.

Massillon beat Cuyahoga Falls 56-54 in the last second of an overtime Friday. With four seconds to go, the Tigers grabbed a jump ball and called time with a second to go. Danny Clark passed in to Terry Lucansky, and Terry's one-hander from mid-court was in the air when the clock expired. But it went through and Massillon shoved its record to 9-3.

Fostoria St. Wendelin, with a 14-0 record up to this week, has won four in overtime—one a triple and one a double extra heat. St. Wendelin also was unbeaten in football with a 9-0-0 record.

Tom Baker, 6-4 center, had 63 points, and Frank Christie, 6-3 second team All-Ohio choice, had 55 as Marietta defeated Chillicothe and Cambridge over the weekend.

Everyone has an eye on unbeaten Carthage-Troy's 6-6 senior center, Larry Fore, who is averaging around 25 for 16 straight wins. And Jackson, with an 11-1 record under rookie coach Dave Fisher, boasts of Eddie Springs, a 205-pound 6-8 center who is averaging 18 points and 21 rebounds.

Leroy Frazier, second team Class A All-Ohio choice last year, scored 28 to outpoint the entire Portsmouth Notre Dame team Friday as New Boston won its 11th straight by 64-27. The youngster leads the Southern Ohio Conference with a 21.4 average.

Ashland's little back guards, 5-10 Dave Wait and Gay Meininger, had a big weekend. Wait scored 28 and 25, and his mate 20 and 24, as Ashland ran its record to 12-1 by beating Lakewood St. Edward and Dover. Wait has a 25-point average for the year.

Marshall Glenn of Mansfield Madison finally missed after making 25 straight free throws. Lorain, which has lost to Elyria and Marion by a total of five points for a 9-2 record, loses four seniors via graduation next week. They include 6-4 center Dennis Kovacevich and Capt. Ray Martin, All-Ohio footballer who is leading the team with a 21-point average.

Bradley Rates Close Second In Cage Poll

BY HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The lack of action on college basketball courts last week was reflected in the balloting today as the list of the top 10 teams in The Associated Press ranking poll remained unchanged.

The sports writers and broadcasters again picked Cincinnati as the No. 1 team—overwhelmingly on the basis of first-place votes—but made the Bearcats' only conqueror, Bradley, a close second in the point totals. About the only differences noted among the top 10 were minor changes in the point totals.

Georgia Tech, the only team among the first 10 to lose a game last week, retained its sixth ranking but its margin over seventh-rated Utah was trimmed to a mere 26 points. Villanova strengthened its hold on eighth place but couldn't overtake Utah.

The ratings are based on games through Saturday, Jan. 26.

The top 10 based on 10 points for first, 9 for second, etc., with first place votes in parentheses:

1.	Cincinnati (76)	1,471
2.	Bradley (19)	1,339

EL Wrestlers Meet Canton Wednesday

Coach Lou Venditti today announced several changes in the wrestling schedule.

The Potters have added Canton Central for a match at Memorial Auditorium Wednesday at 5 p. m.

The Beaver Local match originally set for last Saturday has been moved to 2 p. m. Feb. 6 at Beaver Local.

The match with Barnesville Feb. 12 has been moved up to Feb. 11 and Weirton has been added to the card on Feb. 23 at Memorial Auditorium.

East Liverpool will be shooting for its third win in six starts when the Potters meet Canton Central.

Sam Joes of the San Francisco Giants was the team's workhorse, pitching 271 innings. He won the National League earned run title with a 2.82 mark.

8 Games On Tap

Midland Eyes Sixth Win In Section Play Tonight

A victory tonight at Freedom would give Midland a clean sweep in the first round of competition in the WPIAL Section 8 race in one of eight contests scheduled in the district.

The Leopards have won five straight in league play. The second half of the schedule may prove a little tougher for Coach George Hamilton's boys.

In the second round, Midland must play New Brighton, currently holding the No. 2 spot, at New Brighton and Beaver at Beaver.

The Leopards defeated both teams easily on the Midland court earlier this month.

Two Hancock County rivals look up tonight when Newell travles to New Cumberland. The Vikings put their 3-7 record on the line against New Cumberland, which has 4 victories in 13 starts.

Stanton shows a 9-3 mark, while Salineville has a 4-6 record.

South Side goes after its fifth straight Section 15 victory tonight by entertaining Peters Township.

The Rams are in second place with a 5-1 record. Their overall season mark is 8-7.

Three Tri-County League battles are carded as first-half play ends.

Louisville visits Leetonia, which is on a six-game losing streak, Columbiana (5-5) travels to East Palestine (7-3) and Lisbon will be on its home court attempting to snap a seven-game losing streak against Sebring.

Best one-game basketball point total in the Ivy League is 45. Penn's Ernie Beck set the mark in 1952 and Columbia's Chet Forte tied it in 1957.

Chester Grid Card Remains Same For '60

Chester's 1960 football schedule will feature the same opponents as in 1959, Coach Dom Amedeo announced today.

The campaign will open Sept. 4 when New Cumberland visits Chester City Park.

Four other home engagements are set — South Side Sept. 9, United Sept. 23, St. Mary's Oct. 28 and Cameron Nov. 4.

Chester will be on the road for four games beginning at Beaver Local Sept. 17. The Panthers will be away for three straight weeks at Wellsville, Warwood and Newell.

ELHS Shows $11,713 Profit In Football For 1959 Season

Shifted Game With Warren Netted $9,322

East Liverpool High School began figuring its athletic finances in the "black" once again after a profit of $11,713.92 was realized from football during the 1959 season.

The financial report for football was approved Monday night at a meeting of the high school athletic board.

The profit gave ELHS a balance of $5,894.78 as of Jan. 1.

Total receipts for 1959 were $28,896.14, while expenditures hit $17,232.22. Total gate receipts were $25,294.50, compared with $16,078.51 in 1958.

In 1958 the total profit was only $4,375.51.

Receipts from the Warren game Oct. 16 were responsible for last year's big gain.

The game, originally scheduled for Patterson Field, was shifted to Warren at the request of Warren officials. East Liverpool High School made a net profit of $9,322.85 on the contest as a result.

Gate receipts in 1959 were second only to the 1949 season when the total hit almost $31,000.

Expenditures for 1959 included: Cleaning and laundry, $500.62, reconditioning $1,557.50, equipment $4,122.61, employes $334.88, meals $542.76, medical $119.99, officials $591.50, field $1,315.59, scouting $259.63, transportation $568.08, petty cash $25, utilities $774.02, movies $1,142.12, taxes $427.21.

Letters $239.89, miscellaneous $24.04, tickets $300.98, payroll games $520, supplies $95.90, clinics $315.90, guarantees $1,950, insurance $1,289, paint office $90, ditto machine $125, refund on season tickets $10 and yearbook $10.

Receipts for 1959 showed: guarantees received $2,050, season tickets $2,411, insurance $258, concession stands $344.34, movies donated by Nonpareil Club $650, refund cleaning stadium $22, meals donated by Nonpareil Club $123.50, junior high games $203.80 and five home games $22,883.50.

The 1960 football schedule was completed with the exception of one game. Toronto has requested to be dropped, but has a year left on its contract with East Liverpool.

The board said that if another team can be scheduled for the Nov. 12 date, Toronto will be dropped from the schedule.

East Liverpool will play its first six games at home — Youngstown South Sept. 16, Girard Sept. 23, New Philadelphia Sept. 30, Bellaire St. John's Oct. 7, Youngstown Rayen Oct. 14 and Struthers Oct. 21.

One other home game is with Alliance on Nov. 19.

Away games will be with Steubenville Central Oct. 29, Salem Nov. 5 and Toronto Nov. 12, unless a change is made.

Merrill Hall, athletic director, reported on a Junior High basketball tournament set for Feb. 17-18 and Feb. 24 and 27.

Eight teams will compete in the event to be held at either East Junior High or Westgate, with the final session at Memorial Auditorium.

A tentative list of teams that may compete in the tourney includes East Junior High and Westgate of East Liverpool, Steubenville Central, Toronto, Beaver Local, Wellsville, Newell and Chester.

The price of admission to the games was set at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Second-Half Play To Begin In City Loop Wednesday

Second-half play will get under way in the City Basketball League Wednesday night at East Junior High School.

Alex's wrapped up the first-half championship last week by defeating Freed's. The victory was Alex's fifth straight in loop action.

Wednesday, Freed's will meet the Wellsville Merchants in the top game of the evening beginning at 6:30.

The second contest at 7:30 finds the Chester Merchants facing Midland CIO, a new entry replacing Millirons.

The finale, at 8:30, will see George Bright Real Estate meeting Alex's Carry-Out.

Jensen To Retire From Baseball

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox announced today that outfielder Jackie Jensen has decided to retire from baseball.

A Red Sox spokesman said Jensen gave the word to General Manager Bucky Harris Monday.

Jensen, the American League's most valuable player in 1958, did not amplify his decision, the spokesman said. However, before the close of last season Jensen said he was considering quitting and would think it over during the winter.

"He was sent a very fine contract but that made no difference apparently," said the Sox spokesman. The Red Sox do not disclose contract figures.

Pete Elliott, new Illinois football coach, won a 1946 NCAA golf match against Harvie Ward who later became U. S. amateur champion.

MAYOR SIGNS PROCLAMATION. A "Beat Salem Week" was launched Monday in Wellsville with the official signing of a proclamation by Mayor William Shoub for citizens to back the Tigers, who swing against once-beaten Salem Friday night at Beacom Memorial Gym. The campaign is being co-sponsored by the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Omni Orange and Black Activity Club. Pictured at the signing yesterday are, left to right, Charles Stone, president of the Activity Club, Principal William Menough, Mayor Shoub and Ralph Fusco, representing the Jaycees. The game has been a sellout for several days. Wellsville is 8-2 for the season and Salem 9-1.

Stanton Local 13th In Class 'A'

Salem Retains 3rd Place, Wellsville 14th In Poll

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only one newcomer appeared today in the Class AA and Class A "Top Tens" in the weekly Associated Press high school basketball poll.

And that came in the tenth spot of the Class A ratings where defending state champion Edgerton eased in, ousting Stanton Local from among the elite.

The other big shift also came in the smaller school list where Salem Local of Urbana, winner of 40 of its last 41 and boasting a 13-game victory streak, wrested the top spot from Van Del of Van Wert County by five poll points.

The Salem Local squad, coached by William Hupp, has only a loss to Lynwood-Jackson in last March's state tourney semifinals marring its two-year record.

The Class A contingent is filled with unbeaten teams except for eighth-place New Bremen which saw its 14-game winning streak halted Saturday night by Coldwater 56-50.

Only three of the Top Ten in Class AA are still clean. Dayton Roosevelt, the runaway leader, has won 13 in a row, while fourth-place Lakewood and seventh-place Canton Timken have 11 straight.

Portsmouth's Trojans, fourth last week, skidded to ninth as they fell before both Springfield and Lima in weekend contests. Springfield is the only one of the others to succumb twice and the Wildcats tied Ashland for fifth.

From here and there: Gustavus of Trumbull County, which ended a 59-game losing streak by beating Bloomfield 52-45 two weeks ago, was back on the losing trail after dropping the return game to Bloomfield 93-68. It was Bloomfield's first win of the campaign.

Massillon beat Cuyahoga Falls 56-54 in the last second of an overtime Friday. With four seconds to go, the Tigers grabbed a jump ball and called time with a second to go. Danny Clark passed in to Terry Lucansky, and Terry's one-hander from mid-court was in the air when the clock expired. But it went through and Massillon shoved its record to 9-3.

Fostoria St. Wendelin, with a 14-0 record up to this week, has won four in overtime—one a triple and one a double extra heat. St. Wendelin also was unbeaten in football with a 9-0-0 record.

Tom Baker, 6-4 center, had 63 points, and Frank Christie, 6-3 second team All-Ohio choice, had 55 as Marietta defeated Chillicothe and Cambridge over the weekend.

Everyone has an eye on unbeaten Carthage-Troy's 6-6 senior center, Larry Fore, who is averaging around 25 for 16 straight wins. And Jackson, with an 11-1 record under rookie coach Dave Fisher, boasts of Eddie Springs, a 205-pound 6-8 center who is averaging 18 points and 21 rebounds.

Leroy Frazier, second team Class A All-Ohio choice last year, scored 28 to outpoint the entire Portsmouth Notre Dame team Friday as New Boston won its 11th straight by 64-27. The youngster leads the Southern Ohio Conference with a 21.4 average.

Ashland's little back guards, 5-10 Dave Wait and Gay Meininger, had a big weekend. Wait scored 28 and 25, and his mate 20 and 24, as Ashland ran its record to 12-1 by beating Lakewood St. Edward and Dover. Wait has a 25-point average for the year.

Marshall Glenn of Mansfield Madison finally missed after making 25 straight free throws. Lorain, which has lost to Elyria and Marion by a total of five points for a 9-2 record, loses four seniors via graduation next week. They include 6-4 center Dennis Kovacevich and Capt. Ray Martin, All-Ohio footballer who is leading the team with a 21-point average.

Bradley Rates Close Second In Cage Poll

BY HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The lack of action on college basketball courts last week was reflected in the balloting today as the list of the top 10 teams in The Associated Press ranking poll remained unchanged.

The sports writers and broadcasters again picked Cincinnati as the No. 1 team—overwhelmingly on the basis of first-place votes—but made the Bearcats' only conqueror, Bradley, a close second in the point totals. About the only differences noted among the top 10 were minor changes in the point totals.

Georgia Tech, the only team among the first 10 to lose a game last week, retained its sixth ranking but its margin over seventh-rated Utah was trimmed to a mere 26 points. Villanova strengthened its hold on eighth place but couldn't overtake Utah.

The ratings are based on games through Saturday, Jan. 26.

The top 10 based on 10 points for first, 9 for second, etc., with first place votes in parentheses:

1.	Cincinnati (76)	1,471

The Potters have added Canton Central for a match at Memorial Auditorium Wednesday at 5 p. m.

The Beaver Local match originally set for last Saturday has been moved to 2 p. m. Feb. 6 at Beaver Local.

The match with Barnesville Feb. 12 has been moved up to Feb. 11 and Weirton has been added to the card on Feb. 23 at Memorial Auditorium.

East Liverpool will be shooting for its third win in six starts when the Potters meet Canton Central.

Sam Joes of the San Francisco Giants was the team's workhorse, pitching 271 innings. He won the National League earned run title with a 2.82 mark.

8 Games On Tap

Midland Eyes Sixth Win In Section Play Tonight

A victory tonight at Freedom would give Midland a clean sweep in the first round of competition in the WPIAL Section 8 race in one of eight contests scheduled in the district.

The Leopards have won five straight in league play. The second half of the schedule may prove a little tougher for Coach George Hamilton's boys.

In the second round, Midland must play New Brighton, currently holding the No. 2 spot, at New Brighton and Beaver at Beaver.

The Leopards defeated both teams easily on the Midland court earlier this month.

Two Hancock County rivals look up tonight when Newell travles to New Cumberland. The Vikings put their 3-7 record on the line against New Cumberland, which has 4 victories in 13 starts.

Stanton Local, which had its nine-game winning streak snapped by Jefferson Union Friday night, will try to start another string tonight at Salineville.

Stanton shows a 9-3 mark, while Salineville has a 4-6 record.

Three Tri-County League battles are carded as first-half play ends.

Louisville visits Leetonia, which is on a six-game losing streak, Columbiana (5-5) travels to East Palestine (7-3) and Lisbon will be on its home court attempting to snap a seven-game losing streak against Sebring.

Best one-game basketball point total in the Ivy League is 45. Penn's Ernie Beck set the mark in 1952 and Columbia's Chet Forte tied it in 1957.

Fired Up Georgia Tech Rips Kentucky, 65-44

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Engineers of Georgia Tech are building their first championship season in Southeastern Conference basketball since 1938 by literally tearin' down the king, mighty Kentucky.

Faced with a "must game" against the challengin; cats at Atlanta Monday night, the Engineers not only beat Kentucky for the second time this season but handed the Wildcats their fourth worst whipping in 729 games under Adolph Rupp's 30-year coaching era, piling up a 65-44 rout to the roars of 7,348 fans.

Since Baron Rupp became the Kentucky coach in 1930 to build basketball's greatest record, only his 89-50 loss to CCNY in 1950, his 101-77 setback by Alabama in 1956 and his 41-20 beating from Notre Dame in 1936 have equaled or topped this one.

It was Tech's sixth straight SEC victory and 15th in 17 games while Kentucky, now 10-5 for the season, is 4-2 in the league it has dominated so long and down to third place, a step behind idle Tulane (3-1). Tech now ranked sixth nationally, beat Kentucky at Lexington 62-54 in their first meeting Jan. 2.

Streaking Virginia Tech (12-2) won its eighth in a row, 107-77 over Furman, and Minnesota continued its surprising challenge in the Big Ten with a hot-shooting 87-72 rout of Iowa at Iowa City in other key games on the limited Monday schedule.

Touring Houston, which snapped the 11-game win streak of Miami (Fla.) Saturday night, was the victim of an upset itself Monday night — blowing a 15-point halftime lead to fall before Loyola of New Orleans 63-61. John Flynn, who had 16 points, hit on his last six shots to trigger the Loyola rally.

Touring Oklahoma City also was spilled in Louisiana, losing to tough, little Centenary 65-58. On the West Coast, Stanford defeated Washington State 67-58 in overtime. Hardin-Simmons and North Texas State had a free-shooting wingding, with Hardin-Simmons winning 98-96 in overtime.

Ted Inks Pact With Red Sox At Same Pay

BOSTON (AP) — Will the 1960 chapter of Ted Williams be entitled pinch hitter? Spot player? Regular?

Williams and spring training will provide the answers.

After a brief, secret early morning session with General Manager Bucky Harris, the colorful Williams had agreed to his 21st Red Sox campaign.

A painful neck ailment was the main reason Williams' batting average fell to .254 last season.

Said Harris of his meeting with Williams:

"Ted told me: 'I don't know whether I can do it or not but if you want me to give it a whirl I will.'"

"I don't know how much Ted can play—he doesn't know himself. I did ask him if he minded being a pinch hitter and he didn't say anything — just burst out in a hearty laugh."

Unitas Says New Loop Should Be Successful

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Johnny Unitas, who has quarterbacked the Baltimore Colts to two National Football League titles the last two years, says the American Football League will be a success.

"They'll all get a chance now," Unitas said in an interview Monday night. "The more teams the better. The competition is good for our league. I don't think the new league will hurt us as much as everyone says."

The four-year NFL veteran was here to receive the Philadelphia sports writers' award as America's outstanding athlete.

Have Increased Offense

Lopez Confident Winter Deals Strengthened Sox

By AL LOPEZ
Manager, Chicago White Sox

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—I feel definitely we have strengthened the Chicago White Sox with our winter deals.

As I look at it we have increased our offense by some 30 per cent and did so without sacrificing any of our defense. By adding Minnie Minoso and Gene Freese we have two men who hit a total of 44 home runs and drove in 160 runs. Our entire team drove in 620 runs in winning the American League pennant last year.

True, we had to give up some talent to add Minoso, Freese and company, but we gave up "futures" who did not figure too greatly in our 1960 plans. The only regular we parted with was Bubba Phillips and we replaced him at third with Freese. The latter will do a good job defensively and we always have Billy Goodman and Sam Esposito to fill when needed.

I believe Minoso, Jim Landis and Al Smith will be far superior to any outfield trio we were able to field in 1959.

Our pitching will be even better in 1960. We have added left-handers Frank Baumann, Don Ferrarese and Jake Striker and right-hander Mike Garcia, as well as a number of outstanding farm hands. The most promising of the farm hands appears to be Ed Hobaugh, a young- righthander who had a fine season at Indianapolis.

Our starting staff is headed by Early Wynn and Bob Shaw and includes Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan and Barry Latman. Add our bullpen twins Gerry Staley and Turk Lown and we have an even more impressive pitching staff than last year.

It's difficult to predict that Wynn, who will be 40 years old, will duplicate his 22 victories of 1959. Knowing his talent and determination, however, I wouldn't bet against it. Shaw should be even better than his 18-6 record of last year and could very well be the best pitcher in the league. Latman also should be a bigger winner with a full season of major league pitching under his belt. Two youngsters who came up last year, Ken McBride and Joe Stanka, may also be heard from.

I can't say enough about my "down-the-middle" boys. It used to give me a wonderful feeling whenever I'd go out on the field at the start of the game and see Sherm Lollar behind the plate, Nellie Fox and Luis Aparicio around second base and Landis in center field.

Last year I said we could win the pennant. The players bore out my belief with a great season. I feel we are considerably stronger and see not only a White Sox first-place finish, but also a World Series flag flying over Comiskey Park by mid-October.

Midland Five Shows Top Cage Record In District

With a flashy 15-1 season record, Midland High School continues to set a hot pace for area basketball squads.

Coach George Hamilton's Leopards are unbeaten in Section 8 WPIAL ranks with a 5-0 mark. The lone defeat of the year for the Pennsylvanians was a 61-53 reversal at the hands of strong New Castle.

Last weekend found two high-ranked Ohio squads — Stanton Local of Irondale and Wellsville — jolted from their lofty perches among the elite by unsung opponents.

Both the Class A Irons and Wellsville's Tigers were defeated on the road, Stanton losing to Jefferson Union, 56-53, as it sought to whip a Class AA outfit, and Wellsville falling before Steubenville Catholic Central, 67-64, at Steubenville.

Stanton was ranked 10th in Ohio last week while Wellsville was 12th.

Salem, Columbiana County's powerhouse, continues to breeze to victory without too much trouble. The Quakers notched a pair over the weekend to push their season mark to 9-1.

The third-ranked Quakers face a "night of decision" Friday at Wellsville where a "Beat Salem Week" has been declared by Mayor William Shoub. The loser could drop out of the state's top 10.

East Palestine (7-3) continues to trail Minerva (9-1) in the Tri-County League. Palestine is in second place in the loop with a 5-1 mark. Minerva is undefeated with six straight victories. Other league squads, including Leetonia (3-7) Columbiana (5-5) and Lisbon (0-6), appear completely out of the picture for the league crown.

South Side High's Rams (8-7) are in second place in the Section 15 WPIAL race behind powerful Bridgeville. The Rams have a chance to topple the unbeaten league leaders Feb. 5 at South Side.

Elsewhere in the area, losing streaks seem to be the rule rather than the exception, with Fairfield-Waterford (2-7) and Lisbon (1-8) both sweating out seven - game losing skeins. Leetonia has lost six in a row.

The records of area teams follow:

Owners Seek To Make Halas Show His Hand

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The quiet man at the stormy National Football League meeting may yet have the last word.

Hopelessly snarled in an effort to elect a successor to the late Bert Bell as commissioner, the owners turned to the man who probably knows more about professional football than any one alive.

They decided to try to take the handcuffs off George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears and a pioneer of the game. Halas has been unable to speak his mind on the commissioner for fear he'll lose support on expansion if he takes sides.

Through 22 rounds of balloting since the voting started last Wednesday, Halas abstained 21 times. The one time he voted was for Paul Schissler, special events director of the Los Angeles Times.

Monday, with the vote stalemated at seven for Marshall Leahy of San Francisco and four for Acting Commissioner Austin H. Gunsel, Leahy's supporters asked Halas to attend their caucus and explain his position.

Apparently, Los Angeles, Cleveland, San Francisco, Detroit, Green Bay, New York and the Chicago Cardinals weren't aware Halas was concerned they wouldn't live up to their promise in Philadelphia last October to admit Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas to the league this year.

The "solid seven," as the Leahy group has become known, deny a report they asked Halas to join their group and try and coax two of the opposition to swing to their camp. They deny also that in return they promised a solid block for expansion. Halas also says such things weren't suggested.

However it seemed strange they spent 2½ hours behind closed doors just to pass the time of day.

Halas says he told the seven he wasn't as concerned about a commissioner as he was about expansion.

"Expansion is more important to the league than a commissioner who might serve one, two or five years," Halas says he told the Leahy people.

Hodges Best-Paid Bum As Snider Takes Slash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Outfielder Duke Snider has taken a $3,000 salary cut, so first baseman Gil Hodges will take over as the Los Angeles Dodgers' highest paid player this year.

Hodges got $38,000 last year, Snider $40,000. The club has indicated the big infielder will get a raise for his comeback in 1959.

Snider batted .308 last year in 126 games, handicapped somewhat by recurring knee miseries. He led the club with 88 runs batted in, was second with 23 homers.

300 Launch Bids In Seniors' Golf

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—With a purse of $1,500 and a trip to England awaiting the winner, a record field of more than 300 golfers starts teeing off in the annual PGA National Seniors Tournament.

The event runs through next Sunday, with 40 players cutting in on the $15,000 prize money.

Today's field was confined to players 55 years of age or older, with the 50-54 bracket due to start play in the 72-hole event Wednesday.

Willie Goggin is the defending champion, as well as the world champion. He defeated Arthur Lees, British senior titleholder, in England last year. The American champion annually makes an expense-paid trip overseas to play the British champion.

315 Contests Set At Night In National

CINCINNATI (AP) — Afternoon baseball, at least the weekday variety, will fade still further out of the picture in the National League this year.

The oldest of the two major leagues announced today a 1960 schedule which includes a record-breaking 312 night contests.

And that total includes games of the Chicago Cubs, the lone major league holdout against night baseball, who play all of their 77 home contests in the daytime.

Except on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, St. Louis and Philadelphia will not play any afternoon games. Cincinnati has only one game and Los Angeles and Pittsburgh two each.

As it shapes up, Los Angeles will play a record-breaking 64 night games, including two twi-night dates. Philadelphia will have 52 night dates, St. Louis 48, Cincinnati 45, Pittsburgh 42, Milwaukee 38 and San Francisco 23.

Los Angeles will open the season at night April 12 against Chicago. Philadelphia's home opener April 14 against Milwaukee also will be played at night and so will St. Louis' home opener April 19 against Chicago.

The league's schedule this year will be spread over 174 days instead of the customary 167. The change was made to provide more time for travel to and from the West Coast.

Wilt Holds Lead In Scoring Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain continued his lead over Jack Twyman of Cincinnati for National Basketball Assn. scoring honors, according to statistics released today.

Wilt the Stilt, though he tailed off last week in point production, has scored 1,681 points in 45 games for a 37.2 average. Twyman, playing seven more games, has 1,605 points for a 30.9 average. This marks the second consecutive week that Chamberlain, a rookie, has led both in scoring and per game average.

The averages are for games through last Sunday so don't include a whopping 58 points Chamberlain tossed in Monday night as the Warriors beat Detroit 127-117. The game was the only one scheduled.

Shot Record Rejected

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Shotputter Parry O'Brien's 63-foot, 1-inch throw in last Friday's Los Angeles invitational indoor meet will not be offered as a world record. The shot was under 16 pounds in weight, H. Lee Hansen, AAU commissioner of track officials, said today.

Fired Up Georgia Tech Rips Kentucky, 65-44

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Engineers of Georgia Tech are building their first championship season in Southeastern Conference basketball since 1938 by literally tearin' down the king, mighty Kentucky.

Faced with a "must game" against the challengin; cats at Atlanta Monday night, the Engineers not only beat Kentucky for the second time this season but handed the Wildcats their fourth worst whipping in 729 games under Adolph Rupp's 30-year coaching era, piling up a 65-44 rout to the roars of 7,348 fans.

Since Baron Rupp became the Kentucky coach in 1930 to build basketball's greatest record, only his 89-50 loss to CCNY in 1950, his 101-77 setback by Alabama in 1956 and his 41-20 beating from Notre Dame in 1936 have equaled or topped this one.

It was Tech's sixth straight SEC victory and 15th in 17 games while Kentucky, now 10-5 for the season, is 4-2 in the league it has dominated so long and down to third place, a step behind idle Tulane (3-1). Tech now ranked sixth nationally, beat Kentucky at Lexington 62-54 in their first meeting Jan. 2.

Streaking Virginia Tech (12-2) won its eighth in a row, 107-77 over Furman, and Minnesota continued its surprising challenge in the Big Ten with a hot-shooting 87-72 rout of Iowa at Iowa City in other key games on the limited Monday schedule.

Touring Houston, which snapped the 11-game win streak of Miami (Fla.) Saturday night, was the victim of an upset itself Monday night — blowing a 15-point halftime lead to fall before Loyola of New Orleans 63-61. John Flynn, who had 16 points, hit on his last six shots to trigger the Loyola rally.

Touring Oklahoma City also was spilled in Louisiana, losing to tough, little Centenary 65-58. On the West Coast, Stanford defeated Washington State 67-58 in overtime. Hardin-Simmons and North Texas State had a free-shooting wingding, with Hardin-Simmons winning 98-96 in overtime.

Unitas Says New Loop Should Be Successful

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Johnny Unitas, who has quarterbacked the Baltimore Colts to two National Football League titles the last two years, says the American Football League will be a success.

"They'll all get a chance now," Unitas said in an interview Monday night. "The more teams the better. The competition is good for our league. I don't think the new league will hurt us as much as everyone says."

The four-year NFL veteran was here to receive the Philadelphia sports writers' award as America's outstanding athlete.

Ted Inks Pact With Red Sox At Same Pay

BOSTON (AP) — Will the 1960 chapter of Ted Williams be entitled pinch hitter? Spot player? Regular?

Williams and spring training will provide the answers.

If the 41-year-old slugger is mostly a pinch hitter in the year ahead he'll be the highest paid on record in that category. He signed a contract Monday at the same figure as 1959.

After a brief, secret early morning session with General Manager Bucky Harris, the colorful Williams had agreed to his 21st Red Sox campaign.

Ted recently testified under oath that his 1959 baseball earnings amounted to $60,000 but it never was clarified whether that figure meant gross or net income.

A painful neck ailment was the main reason Williams' batting average fell to .254 last season.

Said Harris of his meeting with Williams:

"Ted told me: 'I don't know whether I can do it or not but if you want me to give it a whirl I will.'"

"I don't know how much Ted can play—he doesn't know himself. I did ask him if he minded being a pinch hitter and he didn't say anything — just burst out in a hearty laugh."

Have Increased Offense

Lopez Confident Winter Deals Strengthened Sox

By AL LOPEZ
Manager, Chicago White Sox

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—I feel definitely we have strengthened the Chicago White Sox with our winter deals.

As I look at it we have increased our offense by some 30 per cent and did so without sacrificing any of our defense. By adding Minnie Minoso and Gene Freese we have two men who hit a total of 44 home runs and drove in 160 runs. Our entire team drove in 620 runs in winning the American League pennant last year.

True, we had to give up some talent to add Minoso, Freese and company, but we gave up "futures" who did not figure too greatly in our 1960 plans. The only regular we parted with was Bubba Phillips and we replaced him at third with Freese. The latter will do a good job defensively and we always have Billy Goodman and Sam Esposito to fill when needed.

I believe Minoso, Jim Landis and Al Smith will be far superior to any outfield trio we were able to field in 1959.

Our pitching will be even better in 1960. We have added left-handers Frank Baumann, Don Ferrarese and Jake Striker and right-hander Mike Garcia, as well as a number of outstanding farm hands. The most promising of the farm hands appears to be Ed Hobaugh, a young- righthander who had a fine season at Indianapolis.

Our starting staff is headed by Early Wynn and Bob Shaw and includes Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan and Barry Latman. Add our bullpen twins Gerry Staley and Turk Lown and we have an even more impressive pitching staff than last year.

It's difficult to predict that Wynn, who will be 40 years old, will duplicate his 22 victories of 1959. Knowing his talent and determination, however, I wouldn't bet against it. Shaw should be even better than his 18-6 record of last year and could very well be the best pitcher in the league. Latman also should be a bigger winner with a full season of major league pitching under his belt. Two youngsters who came up last year, Ken McBride and Joe Stanka, may also be heard from.

I can't say enough about my "down-the-middle" boys. It used to give me a wonderful feeling whenever I'd go out on the field at the start of the game and see Sherm Lollar behind the plate, Nellie Fox and Luis Aparicio around second base and Landis in center field.

Last year I said we could win the pennant. The players bore out my belief with a great season. I feel we are considerably stronger and see not only a White Sox first-place finish, but also a World Series flag flying over Comiskey Park by mid-October.

Midland Five Shows Top Cage Record In District

With a flashy 15-1 season record, Midland High School continues to set a hot pace for area basketball squads.

Coach George Hamilton's Leopards are unbeaten in Section 8 WPIAL ranks with a 5-0 mark. The lone defeat of the year for the Pennsylvanians was a 61-53 reversal at the hands of strong New Castle.

Last weekend found two high-ranked Ohio squads — Stanton Local of Irondale and Wellsville — jolted from their lofty perches among the elite by unsung opponents.

Both the Class A Irons and Wellsville's Tigers were defeated on the road, Stanton losing to Jefferson Union, 56-53, as it sought to whip a Class AA outfit, and Wellsville falling before Steubenville Catholic Central, 67-64, at Steubenville.

Stanton was ranked 10th in Ohio last week while Wellsville was 12th.

Salem, Columbiana County's powerhouse, continues to breeze to victory without too much trouble. The Quakers notched a pair over the weekend to push their season mark to 9-1.

The third-ranked Quakers face a "night of decision" Friday at Wellsville where a "Beat Salem Week" has been declared by Mayor William Shoub. The loser could drop out of the state's top 10.

East Palestine (7-3) continues to trail Minerva (9-1) in the Tri-County League. Palestine is in second place in the loop with a 5-1 mark. Minerva is undefeated with six straight victories. Other league squads, including Leetonia (3-7) Columbiana (5-5) and Lisbon (0-6), appear completely out of the picture for the league crown.

South Side High's Rams (8-7) are in second place in the Section 15 WPIAL race behind powerful Bridgeville. The Rams have a chance to topple the unbeaten league leaders Feb. 5 at South Side.

Elsewhere in the area, losing streaks seem to be the rule rather than the exception, with Fairfield-Waterford (2-7) and Lisbon (1-8) both sweating out seven - game losing skeins. Leetonia has lost six in a row.

Owners Seek To Make Halas Show His Hand

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The quiet man at the stormy National Football League meeting may yet have the last word.

Hopelessly snarled in an effort to elect a successor to the late Bert Bell as commissioner, the owners turned to the man who probably knows more about professional football than any one alive.

They decided to try to take the handcuffs off George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears and a pioneer of the game. Halas has been unable to speak his mind on the commissioner for fear he'll lose support on expansion if he takes sides.

Through 22 rounds of balloting since the voting started last Wednesday, Halas abstained 21 times. The one time he voted was for Paul Schissler, special events director of the Los Angeles Times.

Monday, with the vote stalemated at seven for Marshall Leahy of San Francisco and four for Acting Commissioner Austin H. Gunsel, Leahy's supporters asked Halas to attend their caucus and explain his position.

Apparently, Los Angeles, Cleveland, San Francisco, Detroit, Green Bay, New York and the Chicago Cardinals weren't aware Halas was concerned they wouldn't live up to their promise in Philadelphia last October to admit Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas to the league this year.

The "solid seven," as the Leahy group has become known, deny a report they asked Halas to join their group and try and coax two of the opposition to swing to their camp. They deny also that in return they promised a solid block for expansion. Halas also says such things weren't suggested.

However it seemed strange they spent 2½ hours behind closed doors just to pass the time of day.

Halas says he told the seven he wasn't as concerned about a commissioner as he was about expansion.

"Expansion is more important to the league than a commissioner who might serve one, two or five years," Halas says he told the Leahy people.

Hodges Best-Paid Bum As Snider Takes Slash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Outfielder Duke Snider has taken a $3,000 salary cut, so first baseman Gil Hodges will take over as the Los Angeles Dodgers' highest paid player this year.

Hodges got $38,000 last year, Snider $40,000. The club has indicated the big infielder will get a raise for his comeback in 1959.

Snider batted .308 last year in 126 games, handicapped somewhat by recurring knee miseries. He led the club with 88 runs batted in, was second with 23 homers.

300 Launch Bids In Seniors' Golf

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—With a purse of $1,500 and a trip to England awaiting the winner, a record field of more than 300 golfers starts teeing off in the annual PGA National Seniors Tournament.

The event runs through next Sunday, with 40 players cutting in on the $15,000 prize money.

Today's field was confined to players 55 years of age or older, with the 50-54 bracket due to start play in the 72-hole event Wednesday.

Willie Goggin is the defending champion, as well as the world champion. He defeated Arthur Lees, British senior titleholder, in England last year. The American champion annually makes an expense-paid trip overseas to play the British champion.

315 Contests Set At Night In National

CINCINNATI (AP) — Afternoon baseball, at least the weekday variety, will fade still further out of the picture in the National League this year.

The oldest of the two major leagues announced today a 1960 schedule which includes a record-breaking 312 night contests.

And that total includes games of the Chicago Cubs, the lone major league holdout against night baseball, who play all of their 77 home contests in the daytime.

Except on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, St. Louis and Philadelphia will not play any afternoon games. Cincinnati has only one game and Los Angeles and Pittsburgh two each.

As it shapes up, Los Angeles will play a record-breaking 64 night games, including two twi-night dates. Philadelphia will have 52 night dates, St. Louis 48, Cincinnati 45, Pittsburgh 42, Milwaukee 38 and San Francisco 23.

Los Angeles will open the season at night April 12 against Chicago. Philadelphia's home opener April 14 against Milwaukee also will be played at night and so will St. Louis' home opener April 19 against Chicago.

The league's schedule this year will be spread over 174 days instead of the customary 167. The change was made to provide more time for travel to and from the West Coast.

Wilt Holds Lead In Scoring Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain continued his lead over Jack Twyman of Cincinnati for National Basketball Assn. scoring honors, according to statistics released today.

Wilt the Stilt, though he tailed off last week in point production, has scored 1,681 points in 45 games for a 37.2 average. Twyman, playing seven more games, has 1,605 points for a 30.9 average. This marks the second consecutive week that Chamberlain, a rookie, has led both in scoring and per game average.

The averages are for games through last Sunday so don't include a whopping 58 points Chamberlain tossed in Monday night as the Warriors beat Detroit 127-117. The game was the only one scheduled.

Shot Record Rejected

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Shotputter Parry O'Brien's 63-foot, 1-inch throw in last Friday's Los Angeles invitational indoor meet will not be offered as a world record. The shot was under 16 pounds in weight, H. Lee Hansen, AAU commissioner of track officials, said today.

Nixon Enters Illinois Race

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Backers of Vice President Richard M. Nixon have entered his name in the Illinois preferential primary in an effort to attract a large Republican turnout April 12.

It was Nixon's second entry into primary competition. His first was in New Hampshire.

The names of Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) also were filed Monday.

In Washington, Nixon's press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, said the petitions were filed with the vice president's knowledge and consent. Klein said Nixon also plans to seek delegates in Oregon and Ohio primaries.

The Illinois primary is not binding on convention delegates.

The names of Rockefeller and Kennedy were filed by Lar Daly of Chicago, himself a perennial candidate for various offices. Daly apparently acted without consent of either. A Rockefeller spokesman in Albany, N. Y., hinted strongly the governor would request his name be withdrawn. He has until Jan. 30 to do so.

Kennedy's status was uncertain.

Roy Campanella's Stepson Arrested But Denies Guilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Dodger catcher Roy Campanella's 16-year-old stepson David was arrested Monday midnight on charges of petty larceny and violation of parole.

It was the third time the boy was arrested in less than a year.

David was seized by police with three other boys on a street corner.

The four were looking over the contents of a large cardboard box—a fresh lobster, cans of sardines, cans of soup, toothpaste, electric light bulbs and cartons of cigarettes.

One of David's companions has been working as a clerk in a grocery store. The owner told police the articles were stolen from the store.

David denied any part in a theft and the other boys absolved him, police said. David said he met the other boys just before the policemen arrived.

David's previous arrests were for breaking into a drugstore and for being in a street fight. He was under 16 then, so the charges were only juvenile delinquency. He was placed on probation.

Ike's Best Wishes Go To MacArthur On 80th Birthday

NEW YORK (AP) —General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, spending his 80th birthday quietly here today, had warm best wishes from President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower, who once served as an officer under MacArthur, said the general's life "in service and in distinction has had few equals in all our history."

The President issued his statement Monday night in Washington.

The general was spending the day in his Waldorf Towers apartment. No interview, news conference or public statement was planned.

With him was his wife, Jean. The general's son, Arthur, 21, was to be with them after classes at Columbia University.

MacArthur will have a reunion with members of his World War II staff tonight.

Eaton Is Negotiating For Detroit Company

CLEVELAND (AP) — John C. Virden, chairman of Eaton Mfg. Co., has confirmed that negotiations are in progress for Eaton to acquire American Metal Products Co. of Detroit for about 40 million dollars' worth of Eaton stock.

Eaton, which makes a long line of products for transportation machinery, aircraft, and other industries, has annual sales exceeding a quarter of a billion dollars. American Metal, producer of formed, welded steel, tubular products and stampings for the automotive and aircraft industries, had annual sales of more than 72 million dollars in 1957. Its subsidiaries include Alliance Ware, Inc. of Alliance, Ohio.

Dropping Of Salaries Stirs Countercharges

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A $6,100 salary for the city's civil defense director and $3,000 for his clerk stenographer's annual salary were dropped from appropriations Monday night by Council. Proponents said it was "strictly an economy move," but opponents, outvoted 9-5, called it "political."

The clerk's job has been vacant because of a funds shortage. Walter P. Koellner, retired police captain, said he would continue to serve as civil defense director without pay.

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Miami University's midyear commencement is planned next Sunday and it may be the last. The school president, John D. Millett, has told the faculty the midyear ceremony will be dropped if the total receiving degrees drops under 100.

Teen-Agers Should 'Get A Move On'

D35—55kzyr2 keep in trim by ida jean kain tuesday, january 26

It's sitting, not stuffing, that makes teen-agers overweight. Researchers at the Harvard School of Public Health find that "sedentary habits" are the key to the plight of the overweight teen-ager. This was reported by Dr. C. G. King in "Nutrition Reviews."

By Ida Jean Kain

Lean adolescents, it was pointed out, actually eat more calories than the "fatties." The vital difference: the lean youngsters use all of their food energy, while the fat ones are extraordinarily inactive. They "sit and settle" and their calories are stored as body fat. Trouble ahead!

So, overweight teens and subteens, get a move on! Call your chubby chum and take a penny walk.

AT EACH CORNER flip a penny, heads, squads right; tails, turn left. Take a five penny walk every day. You'll be the winner.

Now for some tone-ups. Well-directed exercises can infuse live tone into flabby muscles, take up the slack and reshape your figure. From your letters it appears you need exercises to strengthen chest muscles, slim the waist, stomach and hips.

First, a modified push-up. This exercise can help to normalize and beautify the chest and bust.

Position: Rest on hands and knees, elbows straight, palms flat on floor, shoulder width apart. From the bend of the knees raise legs half way off floor, to make push-ups easier.

Movement: Bend elbows and touch chest to floor and push back up to starting position. Keep your back straight — do not allow small of back to sag down. Repeat 6 times. Do not overdo at first. Tomorrow you'll know you have put unused muscles to work.

This second exercise, the deep-knee bend, reaches practically all your muscles.

Position: Standing, feet apart, arms down at sides.

Movement: Go into deep-knee bend, then place hands on floor between your feet. Come back up to standing position and with elbows bent, thrust arms out at shoulders, to square shoulders. Repeat the deep-knee bend, this time heels on the floor. Keep your back straight as you touch hands to floor between feet.

THIS EXERCISE is an excellent straightener-outer. Repeat 10 times every day.

At the finish, stretch and bend toward the side - hold. Back to center, stretch slim through the middle and bend to opposite side.

Why settle for bulges when you can have a honey of a figure?

Send a self-addressed, stamped, long envelope for "Slim Hips In A Hurry" to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Humphrey, DiSalle Confer On Ohio Delegate Outlook

By JAMES B. SIBBISON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) may ask Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to make him his second choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

This, it is understood, may well be what Humphrey has in mind as he flies to Columbus today to discuss with DiSalle his hopes of finding delegate strength in Ohio.

The idea, an observer close to the situation says, would be this:

Humphrey wouldn't go into Ohio to compete for delegates if he had an understanding that DiSalle would shift delegate strength to him if his first choice, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), obviously can't win.

Another alternative — assuming he does anything at all—would be for Humphrey to compete for just a partial slate of Ohio delegates in areas where he thinks he might win.

Some of his backers have been taking soundings on his chances. One is Joe Glazer of Akron, a United Rubber Workers official. Humphrey probably will see Glazer in Columbus today.

Humphrey plans to fly to Columbus shortly after noon from Charleston, W. Va., arriving at 1:27 p. m.

At 2:30 p.m. he will hold a news conference at the Press Club of Ohio, then go to a meeting of the Young Democrats of Ohio State University.

Tonight, Humphrey will dine with the Ohio Pastors Convention and make a speech on disarmament. Then he goes to the governor's mansion where he will be DiSalle's overnight guest.

His final intentions concerning Ohio, he has announced, will be made plain in a statement Wednesday morning, shortly before he returns to Washington.

Another political development here—or rather lack of development—is that Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) still has not been advised he will be a delegate for Kennedy on his (Young's) terms.

Young wrote DeSalle last week he would be a delegate only on condition he could become a free agent after it appeared Kennedy wouldn't be the nominee.

DiSalle said in Ohio he has agreed to that with Young, but Young says he has not heard from him on this point.

Koppers Sees '60 Gains For Firm

Koppers Co., Inc., which has a research and production facility at Arroyo, expects a gain in both sales and earnings this year, company directors were told at Pittsburgh Monday by Fred C. Foy, chairman of the board and president. The steel strike was blamed for reduced activity in 1959.

Basis for this optimism is a sizeable backlog in orders which stands now at nearly $143 million compared with $65 million a year ago.

Net operating income for 1959 amounted to $5,425,220. This compares to $5,877,069 which is exclusive of the net recovery on a tax refund which brought the net income for 1958 to $6,609,257. After payment of preferred dividends, the 1959 net income was equivalent to $2.10 per share of common stock outstanding. The comparable 1958 figure was $2.30, exclusive of the tax refund, which was equivalent to 32 cents per share.

Total sales for the company for the year were $240.3 million compared to $258.9 in 1958.

The three on-liquid foods eaten in greatest quantity throughout the world are rice, potatoes and wheat, in that order.

LISBON — Over five and a quarter tons of surplus foods was distributed in Columbiana County's relief foods program in January, Welfare Director Robert Bycroft reported today.

A total of 10,542 pounds was given to needy persons reporting to the four distribution points in the county — East Liverpool Central Fire Station, Wellsville City Hall, Salem City Building and the warehouse in Columbiana.

A breakdown of food shows:

2,385 pounds of dried milk, 616 pounds of rice, 2,580 pounds of cornmeal, 3,230 pounds of flour, 924 pounds of lard and 807 pounds of dried eggs.

Fifth Amendment Pressed In Fight To Clear Carole

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Was Carole Tregoff a witness against herself the day she was charged with murder?

Her defense attorneys are trying to prove it—in hopes the Fifth Amendment may help them win her freedom.

Miss Tregoff—at first receptionist to a wealthy physician and later his mistress—was arrested July 29 after she told a preliminary hearing her story on the night the doctor's wife was killed.

Carole, 23, and Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, are on trial on charges of murder and conspiracy for the July 18 death of Barbara Jean Finch, 36.

The prosecutor who is seeking to prove her guilty took the stand for the state Monday to tell about Miss Tregoff's arrest.

Under searching cross examination, Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred N. Whichello admitted that at no time at the preliminary hearing had Miss Tregoff been informed of her constitutional rights.

Defense attorneys have battled bitterly against every attempt to introduce Miss Tregoff's earlier testimony into evidence. They claim the portion of the Fifth Amendment which bars a person from being a witness against himself was violated.

Trick Instead Of Treat Brings Fine, Probation

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — A dentist accused of tricking Halloween youngsters with laxative pills instead of treating them with candy has been fined $525, placed on two years probation and given a four-month suspended jail sentence for "outraging public decency."

Dr. William V. Shyne, 40, paid the fine Monday without comment.

Several children who ate the pills became ill, but none was hospitalized.
